SENATOR ELKINS ADMITS GAMBLING IN OIL STOCK

BOUGHT UP SINCLAIR IN BIG DEALS

Senator Denies "Tip" on Oil Leases; Wants to Be Heard on Stand

Washington, Feb. 20.—Attorney-General Daugherty today reaffirmed to President Coolidge his determination not to resign under fire. He visited the White House this forenoon, talked over the situation with the chief executive and returned to the Department of Justice to dictate a statement covering his decision to stay in the Cabinet.

Washington, Feb. 20.—Senator Elkins, Republican, West Virginia, today admitted he had purchased stock of the Sinclair Consolidated Oil Company. He said he was willing to go before the Senate Oil Committee and tell about it.

Elkins' statement revealed that he is the Senator whose name appears on the records of the Benkard brokerage firm, presented to the committee yesterday.

The West Virginia Senator visited the committee room today during the examination of Harry Payne Whitney, but was not heard. Members said if he were called it would be in an open session.

ELKINS' STATEMENT.

"I purchased the Sinclair stock without any knowledge with respect the oil leases," Senator Elkins said in a statement. "I bought much more of Bethlehem Steel and other stock than I did of oil stocks.

"I am perfectly willing to go before the committee if they desire, and tell them all about these transactions. There is no law against buying and selling stock."

"Many of my purchases were made solely on my own initiative, or on advice of my brokers.

"If you stop buying and selling, this country will have to stop. This

Bride-to-Be Vanishes

FEAR BRIDE-TO-BE IS FOUL PLAY VICTIM

FRANCES SPERAK

Roxbury girl who has mysteriously vanished from sight on the eve of her wedding. Her parents and fiance have asked the police to aid in finding her. They fear she has met with foul play. The missing girl recently had an engagement party attended by 1,000 guests. She vanished while on a shopping trip to complete her trousseau.

GIRL GONE ON EVE OF WEDDING

Frances Spevak of Roxbury Disappears While on Trip to Complete Trousseau

With her wedding day only two weeks away, Miss Frances Spevak, 22-year-old daughter of Myer Spevak, wealthy retired real estate operator, has vanished mysteriously from [illegible] home at No. 11 Nazing street, Roxbury, the police were informed today.

Last Monday the girl left her home to meet her mother in a downtown department store. Mother and daughter were to have completed the selection of final articles for her trousseau.

But the mother waited in vain. Somewhere between her home in the Grove Hall section and the place of appointment, the girl dropped mysteriously out of sight.

March 6 was the day set for Miss Spevak's marriage to Moe Braudno, one of the proprietors of the Warrenton Drug Company at No. 877 Washington street.

Braudno, it was said today by his brother, had worried so over the disappearance of his fiance that he is confined to his Brookline home by illness.

GIRL HAD $25 CHECK.

The girl had with her when she left home a check for $25, her costly diamond engagement ring and a diamond-studded watch. So far as her parents know, she had little money other than that represented by the check. She left on her trip in town, apparently eager to complete the assembling of her trousseau.

When she started for the shopping district she was dressed in black short fur jacket trimmed with monkey fur, henna-colored knitted sport dress, black suede pumps with buckles, overshoes and a hat of henna shade. She is five feet five inches tall, weighs 140 pounds, has blue eyes and dark hair and is exceptionally pretty.

Every hotel and hospital in Boston has been asked to be on the watch for the missing girl.

FRIENDS AID SEARCH.

Friends and relatives of the family living at points as far away as New York have been informed of her disappearance, but still no clew of her whereabouts has been found.

No other man than Braudno has had a place in her life, her parents assert. Her outside interests have been chiefly with music. Since her graduation from Malden High School in 1919 she has been taking vocal lessons at the New England Conservatory of Music.

New York, Feb. 20.—Herman Drzwicki, of Brooklyn, died suddenly in a drug store in that city from a hemorrhage, due to hysterical grief over the death of his wife, Anna.

Oil Kings Roll in Gold, Says Quinn, in Bonus Plea

Washington, Feb. 20 (C.N.S.).—John R. Quinn, the California cowboy, pleaded today with President Coolidge to wave aside his personal objections and to sign the bonus bill certain to be passed by Congress.

J. R. Quinn

Commander Quinn reminded the President that men were taken from their regular work and wages and served in France for $1 a day. He said Mr. Doheny will get $10[illegible],000,000 profit out of California oil fields, and Sinclair is to get $10,000,000 out of Teapot Dome; but the soldiers feel everyone is getting something but those who deserve it.

POLICEMAN ROMEO IS FIRED

McCarthy, Hyde Park Patrolman, Let Go After Board Hears Widow's Charge

Being a Romeo and a policeman at the same time doesn't go well together.

James McCarthy, erstwhile policeman of the Hyde Park station, discovered this today when he was officially informed by his superiors that he could Romeo all he cared to but his services as a guardian of the law were all through.

A widow was the undoing of McCarthy. She appeared before the police trial board, told of her affair with the policeman—it was only of a single evening's duration—and then the official axe promptly decapitated McCarthy's official head.

The widow told the board she met the policeman at a Hyde Park moving picture show.

She wasn't particularly interested in criminology—but she did admire the bright buttons and the badge McCarthy wore. She readily agreed when he suggested that he escort her to her home.

According to the widow she is now about to become a mother.

McCarthy denied the charges—produced another woman, in fact, who testified that on the night the widow alleged she was with McCarthy—she, herself, the other woman, was being courted by the police Romeo. The trial board couldn't be convinced, however, and today McCarthy was fired.

GIRL RIDING WITH BOSS IS KILLED

Wealthy Salem Employer Is Seriously Hurt as Speeding Car Strikes Trolley

A midnight automobile ride with her wealthy employer had a tragic ending in the early hours of this morning for pretty Mildred Johnson, nineteen years old, of No. 92 Bridge Street, Salem, who lost her life when Foster H. Parker's sedan collided head on with a Waverley-Waltham trolley car on Waverley Oaks road.

The girl is believed to have been killed instantly. Her neck and her right arm were broken and her skull fractured.

Parker, married, a father and a member of the firm of Parker Bros., internationally known printers of games, was removed to Waltham Hospital with a possible fracture of the skull and multiple contusions on face and head.

PROMINENT IN SALEM.

In Salem, Parker is known as one of the city's most important young business men and Miss Johnson was respected and admired by a wide circle of friends and acquaintances. The Parker home is at No. 16 Savoy road, in the same section of the city as the home of the girl.

The fatality occurred almost direct-

Gale Drives 3 Ships Into New London for Shelter

New London, Feb. 20.—Three east-bound sound steamers, including the Georgia, New York to Providence with a passenger list of fifty, unable to pass Point Judith, sought shelter in the harbor here during the storm.

A Fall River freighter, bound east from New York, and the freight steamer Mackinack, New York-Pawtucket bound, put into the harbor here. The Georgia discharged her passengers here, allowing them to take the 11:40 train for Providence.

The tide here was three feet higher than at any time in six months.

CONDITION OF SEN. GREENE IS WORSE

Washington, Feb. 20.—The condition of Senator Frank L. Greene of Vermont was described by physicians to be "not quite so favorable" today. Dr. Daniel L. Borden, who operated on Senator Greene Saturday afternoon and again Monday night, made the announcement after a consultation with Dr. Thomas Linville, the Senator's family physician.

"His present state is the result of an injury to the brain itself," Dr. Borden said. At the hospital it was said that Senator Greene understood what was being said to him, but was apparently unable to speak.

Mrs. Greene was summoned to her husband's bedside this noon and it was apparent those in attendance believed the end might be near.

CHOKES TO DEATH ON BITE OF SAUSAGE

Dr. Frederick H. Baker of Worcester, medical examiner, declared after examining the body that Wall had choked to death on the large morsel. He held in his hand the remainder of the sausage when the body was found.

HUB IN GRIP OF KING STORM

Traffic Tied Up, Cars and Trains Blocked, Schools Closed, as Gale Rages

The storm king holds Boston and all New England in his grip. With trolley and steam rail facilities strained to their utmost, and out-of-town highways obstructed by snowdrifts, the Hub faces its first real blizzard of the season.

Outside Boston Harbor the seas are being lashed by a southeast gale. Among the craft suffering from the wrath of the storm gods are six rum runners. The Coast Guard cutter Tampa is standing by the storm-tossed rum ships in case any should founder.

The storm spread over New England from the South. Reported at first as a mild flurry over Louisiana it swept northward, growing in intensity until all the North Atlantic States were within its grip.

The storm arrived during the night and daybreak found conditions in and about Boston so bad that schools were ordered closed—trolley lines were slowed up—steam trains were unable to maintain their schedules and business generally suffered.

The New Haven and the Boston Elevated felt the effects early in the day. Going was poor for the steam

SALEM GIRL IS KILLED ON WILD AUTO RIDE WITH EMPLOYER

ly opposite No. 512 Waverley Oaks road, in Waltham. The trolley car, of the Middlesex & Boston Street Railway Co., in charge of Daniel Minnehan, motorman, and Morris Freeman, conductor, was making its last run of the night from Waverley to the Waltham car-barn. It carried but one or two passengers.

DENIES SPEEDING.

Minnehan, who denies he was making the last run at unusual speed, says he first sighted the Parker car when it was about 200 feet distant. They were traveling in different directions, Parker and the girl apparently being headed for home.

"In my opinion," the motorman told Waltham policeman, "they were traveling at the rate of fifty miles an hour.

"I slapped on the brakes, reversed my power, did everything usual under such circumstances, when I saw how closely the motorist appeared to be hugging the tracks, but it was no use and he came into me head-on. The crash must have been heard for blocks."

Minnehan, Freeman and their few passengers climbed out to render such assistance as was possible, but it was quickly seen that Miss Johnson was beyond mortal aid. A call was telephoned for the police and Parker was hurried to the Waltham General Hospital. The ambulance also carried away the body of his young friend.

At the spot where the collision occurred the trolley tracks swing from one side of the road to the other, a condition extremely threatening to drivers unacquainted with the road and who come upon it in the night without previous warning.

DELEGATES TO REICHSTAG TOLD TO KEEP QUIET

Chancellor Marx Wants Parliament to Die Natural Death in May

Berlin, Feb. 20 (Universal Cable). —"Keep quiet or I will send you home," was in effect the warning which Chancellor Marx issued to the Reichstag delegates on the eve of the reopening of that body after its recess of three months, during which the Marx cabinet pulled Germany together under a mild dictatorship.

The warning was issued in the form of a declaration given to the German press.

The Reichstag reassembles today in the shadow of the coming elections. All but the extreme reactionaries, who made considerable gains in the recent local elections, would prefer to let the Reichstag die a "natural death," which is due in May. This would bring the elections in June, after the French elections.

SEES CAUSE FOR SHAME IF POLE TRIP IS HALTED

America Will Be Joke in Eyes of World, Says Explorer

Washington, Feb. 20. (Universal). —"It will be a cause for shame to the entire country, as well as the service, if the navy's Arctic flight on he Shenandoah is called off. We hall be a joke in the eyes of explorers and scientific men all over he world."

Thus declared Captain Evelyn B. aldwin, head of the Baldwin-Ziegr expedition, and now connected ith the legal department of the hipping Board, to Universal Service.

Captain Baldwin hopes with the navy officers that some way can be found out of the embarrassment, but he agrees that unless action is taken in a few days, the trip is off for this year.

Meantime, friends of the expedition are paging Harry Payne Whitney, noted sportsman, who has been summoned to the oil hearings, in the hope that he might answer the S O S by putting up the money need for the venture.

A similar situation arose in 1879, when the late James Gordon Bennett bought the steamer Jeanette and sent her through Behring Strait under command of Rear Admiral George W. DeLong.

The Jeanette discovered Wrangle and made possible a later landing there by the Karluk, which went out to relieve her sorely distressed crew. DeLong and half of his crew perished, but the expedition added much to scientific knowledge.

U. S. DEBT TO MARK TIME ON WAR DEBTS

Washington, Feb. 20.—The World War foreign debt commission will make no move for the present to force France and other European powers to agree upon terms of settlement of their $7,000,000,000 debts to the United States. This definite decision was reached by the commission, according to information reaching members of the Senate and House today.

It was pointed out that the Dawes commission working on a plan whereby Germany can begin to meet her reparations obligations will be ready to report within about six weeks and it is hoped France will find herself in a position where she will have to accept this plan. Then, it was argued, France can be told she will have to fulfill her obligations to the United States, since her old reparations excuse no longer suffices.

HOLD BROCKTON MAN IN DEATH OF POLICEMAN

Seized With Pal in Geneva, N. Y., After Patrolman Is Slain by Robbers

Geneva, N. Y., Feb. 20.—Struck down by an assailant's shots at his post of duty, Enos McDonald, patrolman, died of his injuries today.

Police are holding two men, one giving his name as Harry Roberts, No. 118 Standard street, Brockton, Mass., and the other giving his name as Edward O'Neil, 22 years old, of Corning.

The men are only charged with resisting an officer. McDonald was shot through the stomach twice when a gang of robbers was surprised at work.

Although fatally shot, Policeman McDonald manacled himself to one of the suspects.

A minute later he became unconscious.

Other police later found the manacled pair. As they did not have the key to the handcuffs it was necessary to take both men to the hospital. There the manacles were filed off while surgeons prepared McDonald for the operating table.

CONVICTION OF CHIEF HAYES IS ASKED

State Charges "Lightning Jack" Wantonly Disregarded Rights of Others

Salem, Feb. 20.—The fate of Chief of Police John E. Hayes of Beverly, whose bullet wounded Evelyn Spinney and John Winston of Lynn, was to be placed in the hands of a jury in Superior Court today.

Assistant District Attorney Flynn of Essex County closed with a plea for conviction on the grounds that Hayes was guilty of reckless and wanton disregard of the rights of others, whether he fired at the ground or at the automobile.

Hayes' counsel, John P. Feeney of Boston, declared that Hayes was using the best judgment of which he was capable and was not guilty of negligence because the bullet glanced from the ground and entered the car.

SENATOR ELKINS, NAMED IN OIL PROBE, A RICH BLUEBLOOD

REFUSED TO LET SISTER WED DUKE

Declared a Yankee Was Good Enough for Katherine, and Blocked Abruzzi

Washington, Feb. 20.—United States Senator Davis Elkins of West Virginia, named in connection with the oil scandal probe, is a picturesque figure in national life.

The illustrious son of an illustrious sire—his father, Stephen B. Elkins, was a Senator before him, while his grandfather, Henry Gassaway Davis, also served as a member of the Senate.

His father, too, served in a presidential Cabinet—holding the portfolio of Secretary of War in President Harrison's Cabinet.

A veteran of two wars—the Spanish-American and the World War—Senator Elkins has fully lived up to the traditions of his family and the mention of his name in connection with the Teapot Dome affair is the first smirch that has ever come to the name of Elkins through generations of public service.

SISTER COURTED FAME.

All the members of the Elkins family have long been "good copy" for the press of Washington and the entire country, but it was the Senator's sister, Mrs. "Billy" Hitt, who as the beautiful Katherine Elkins set two continents talking with her love affair with the Duke of Abruzzi brother of the King of Italy.

The Duke—a picturesque figure—stopped exploring Polar regions and climbing impassable mountains long enough to conduct a whirlwind courtship for the hand of Miss Elkins.

"Billy" Hitt, son of a more or less obscure Congressman from Illinois, also was a suitor for the hand of the Washington beauty.

The royal house of Italy took a hand in the affair—so did the Elkins family. The Italian King decided that Miss Elkins could only be the morganatic wife of the Duke, Senator Elkins and his father backed up the American boy in his quest for the hand of the beauty.

"BILLY" WON HER HAND.

The upshot of the matter was that the Duke went hunting lions in Africa and Hitt married Miss Elkins.

Subsequently the couple were divorced in Paris, and then last year as an anti-climax they were remarried in Washington.

Senator Elkins himself was started off in life in an auspicious manner by his father, who decided that his son should have a public career.

As a youth he was sent to Lawrenceville and Andover schools and completed his education at Harvard. The Spanish-American War broke out while the young man was at Harvard. He promptly bolted college and enlisted in the First West Virginia Volunteer Infantry.

WINS A COMMISSION

Due to parental influence he soon rose from the ranks and was commissioned as a first lieutenant, and later he served as a captain on the staff of Brigadier-General Schwan in the Cuba and Porto Rico campaigns.

He left the army and took charge of the extensive business affairs of his father, and after the death of the elder Elkins was appointed to his father's place in the Senate by Governor Glasscock of West Virginia. This was in 1911.

When the World War broke out Senator Elkins entered the service. He was commissioned a major and served with distinction in the 7th Division, both in Texas and in France.

During his absence overseas he was elected to the United States Senate by an overwhelming majority and he returned from the battlefield to resume his seat in the country's highest tribunal of lawmakers.

FAVORITE AT WHITE HOUSE.

Senator Elkins has long been connected with the social life of Washington. His sister, Mrs. Hitt, was long a favorite at the White House during the Roosevelt regime, being a particular chum of Alice Roosevelt, and the Elkins names long stood at the head of the list on the socially "Who's Who" in the capital.

Senator Elkins is a member of the Metropolitan Club, the Harvard Club and the Tennis and Racquet Club of New York city.

The Elkins family has long been regarded as one of the wealthiest in West Virginia. Extensive coal land holdings—secured when the coal fields were first being expolited, constitute the basis of the family's fortune, and in Washington it has generally been regarded that Senator Elkins' wealth was so great that he had little need to worry about the commonplaces of life.

"Already William G. McAdoo has been mentioned prominently, as has the late Franklin K. Lane and others."

Harry Payne Whitney was the first witness called by the committee when it met shortly before 10:30 o'clock. He appeared nervous as he went into the meeting room. An official stenographer was present and the witness was accompanied by his counsel.

ELKINS JOINS HIM.

The examination of Mr. Whitney consumed just fifteen minutes. He and his attorney, Frank L. Crocker, were met afterward in the committee ante-room by Senator Elkins and accompanied him to his office.

The Elkins statement was issued by John W. Fenton, Jr., secretary to the Senator. It follows:

"Senator Elkins has for the past fifteen or twenty years been buying and selling stocks through various brokers in Washington, Philadelphia and New York.

"In many cases he purchased on margins and on others he bought stocks outright, feeling that he had a perfect right to do so, the same as if he bought an automobile and sold it for a piece of real estate and disposed of it.

NO PROFIT IN SINCLAIR.

"It is true that Senator Elkins has purchased from time to time various shares of Sinclair Oil stock, as he did various other listed securities, particularly cotton. As soon as the price of oil dropped, like in other stocks, he sold out. But so far as Sinclair Oil stock is concerned he did not make one penny profit.

"Senator Elkins has been confined to his bed with grippe for the past three weeks and he has evaded no one for the purpose of concealing the few shares of Sinclair Oil stock that he purchased in the open market.

"He probably did not purchase more than 5,000 to 10,000 shares of Sinclair Oil stock, gathered through a long period of time.

"He is willing to help prosecute any man who has tried to conspire against the government, and will do so.

"Senator Elkins feels that it is a big joke, so far as the use of his name is concerned in connection with Sinclair stock."

The investigators have decided to send expert accountants to New York to examine the books of Whitney.

While an official record of the executive proceedings is kept, it has been decided not to swear any witness who appears in secret session, so that no questions of immunity can be raised subsequently.

The session today, committee members said, was merely to determine the quickest procedure in handling the brokers' boks and determine what records should be searched.

It was indicated that Senator Elkins would not be invited before the committee until reports of the auditors disclose the full extent of his stock tkransactions.

Senator Lenroot added that there was no other immediate development in the oil scandal in prospect which would require an early meeting o the committee. Members would not say, however, whether it might be necessary to hold other sessions before next Monday, the time set for resumption of the public hearings.

Wheeler Dared by Felder to Repeat His Charges

New York, Feb. 20.—Thomas B. Felder, the attorney who was attacked in the Senate by Senator Wheeler, in connection with the resolution for the investigation of Attorney-General Daugherty, today challenged the Montana Senator to repeat his statements after foregoing Senatorial immunity.

Wheeler's statement said "The newspapers in New York carried the details of how the Attorney-General's former partner, and friend, Mr. Felder, was collecting money for the purpose of selling offices and appointments and for the dismissal of whiskey cases in the City of New York."

NAB DOCTOR FOR SALES OF DOPE

South End Man Accused of Using Fake Prescriptions in Supplying Addicts

Dr. English N. McLoughlin, colored, a physician with an office at No. 1034 Washington street, South End, alleged to be the source of supply for white girl drug victims, was arrested today by Sergeant Caverly of the drug squad.

The arrest was made after a former girl addict is said to have purchased drugs from him.

The arrest of Dr. McLoughlin, according to the police, will draw into the drug net some South End drug stores—claimed by the authorities to have been knowingly furnishing drugs through forged prescriptions.

According to the police, Dr. McLoughlin, who claims to have been a lieutenant in the Medical Corps overseas during the war, has used forged prescriptions.

His procedure in obtaining the drugs, the police say, was to fill out a prescription for drugs under a fictitious name and then present the prescriptions at one of several South End drug stores.

The drugs were sold and then, either McLoughlin or the drug store clerk, it is alleged, would sign the supposed name of the fictitious prescription holder. The drugs then would be delivered to the users.

Miss Annie McKnight, a former drug addict who has been cured, is declared by the authorities to have purchased drugs from Dr. McLoughlin for Sergeant Caverly.

Forbes.

COUPLE IN NOVENA, STORK NOW ON WAY

The promised pleasure of a baby's arms around the neck of his wife, after a childless union of several years, has led a Boston man, following a recent novena to Our Lady of Lourdes in St. Mary's Church, North End, to donate to the church a check for $500. The money will be spent in a complete renovation of the shrine of Our Lady in the basement and the rector, the Rev. A. J. Duarte, S. J., is already in communication with Ralph Adams Cram, who will plan the contemplated new shrine.

Providence, Feb. 20.—After preliminary hearing before Judge Gorham the charge of murder against Mrs. Millie Sentelli of Boston, alleged to have shot and killed her husband, Frank Sentelli, alias Frank Scotti, in a rooming house at No. 61 Carpenter street, February 4, was changed to a charge of manslaughter on motion of her attorney, Benjamin Cianciarula. She was held to the Grand Jury in $10,000.

GARMENT MEN SEEK COURT AID

To Ask Injunction on Strike of Workers; Call Five-Day Week Impossible

The strike of 2,000 organized employes of the waist and dressmaking shops of Boston entered upon its second day with representatives of the Boston Waist and Dress Manufacturers' Association declaring that the success of this drive for a five-day week of forty hours would mean the death of the industry in Boston.

Arturo Giovannetti.

Legal representatives of the manufacturers were planning today to petition the Supreme Judicial Court for an injunction restraining local and general officers of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union and members of its subordinate bodies from proceeding with the movement.

"If it were not tragic," declared President Martin Mathews of the employing body, "if the very life of a great industry were not at stake, this move at this particular time for a five-day week in Boston would be ridiculous.

GIOVANNETTI IN CHARGE.

"The trade is in a bad way; general business conditions are none too good; the State Employment Bureau figures shows that unemployment is on the increase—and at such a time our workers are led to demand a forty-hour work-week."

An interesting figure among the Big Three in charge at strike headquarters in Paine Memorial is Arturo Giovannetti, poet and magazine writer, who was one of "Big Bill" Hayward's lieutenants in the Lawrence strike of several years ago and who, with Joe Ettor, spent several weeks in the Essex County Jail at Salem. During his stay in jail Giovannetti wrote one of his most widely circulated poems.

The two other leaders are Vice-President Fred Monosson of the International Ladies' Garment Workers and Israel Lewin, general manager of Waist and Dressmakers' Local No. 49.

ADDITIONAL QUARTERS.

Vice - President Monosson announced for the strikers that in addition to general headquarters at No. 913 Washington street, a subcommittee has engaged accommodations at the Hotel Avery and will be on hand there to meet such employers as desire to sign up at the union's terms.

Scores of extra policemen have been sent into those parts of the downtown district in which the garment trade flourishes and strike pickets have been kept moving. Whether the strike is 100 per cent. effective is the subject of the usual contradictory reports from both camps.

Between seventy and eighty shops are involved. The strikers claim that a half dozen of the smaller shops already have agreed to their terms.

'THREE WEEKS' FILM BARRED IN MARYLAND

Elinor Glyn.

Baltimore, Md., Feb. 20.—"Three Weeks," a Goldwyn picture based on Elinor Glyn's novel of that name, was declared "immoral" by the Maryland Board of Motion Picture Censors here and the right to exhibit was denied.

Miss Mary W. Presstman of the board said: "The picture was first viewed by the board a week ago. It was then disapproved as immoral. Today the second view was given, with J. E. Fowler, local Goldwyn representative, and two men from New York representing the picture attending.

"The picture was disapproved the second time with no recommendations made for reconstruction."

HUGE DRIFTS BLOCK CANADIAN TRAINS

Toronto, Feb. 20.—Ontario's severest blizzard in years was sweeping over the province today, demoralizing traffic generally.

Trains due here are several hours behind time, while others leaving the city have been able to make little headway against huge drifts that have snowed up the tracks at intervals for miles. In Toronto, street cars were running on only a few routes and workbound thousands fought their way through drifts several feet deep in places.

DIAMOND BRACELET ON IRENE'S ANKLE

A diamond bracelet sparkling on the trim ankle of Irene Castle Treman McLaughlin caught every eye in the Criminal Courts Building when she appeared to press a complaint before the grand jury against James R. Cooper, a jeweler. The glittering circlet was not concealed by a cobweb stocking, and a collective gasp of those present was followed by a prolonged hush, while Irene, wrapped in a long sable coat, tripped into Assistant District Attorney Hasting's office.

GLAND CONTROL PREDICTED BY SCIENTIST

Prague Physician Addresses Internal Medicine Congress at St. Louis

St. Louis, Feb. 21. — Science is making such headway in the study of the ductless glands that it is believed control of these glands will be the next achievement, Professor A. Biedl of Prague, Czecho-Slovakia, eminent specialist, told the convention of the American Congress on Internal Medicine.

Most important to science, Professor Biedl asserted, is the thyroid gland, to whose over secretion or under secretion we owe dwarfs, giants fat monstrosities and living skeletons. It is the controller of body changes, bone growth and body proportions, he added.

Goitre is an affliction of the thyroid gland, and Professor Biedl said that when Botticelli emphasized the characters of his canvasses by long slender arms, hands and fingers, he unconsciously was betraying a condition of Goitre among the Florentine women of the time.

The number of infant deaths at birth could be reduced considerably by the application of oxygen, as many are caused from asphyxia arising from internal or external causes, said Dr. William Magner of the University of Toronto.

They included an old black suit, the collar stained with the life blood of the martyred President, the trousers wrinkled; a badly torn overcoat and a faded silk stock.

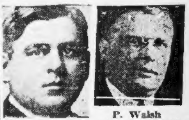
CORCORAN TRIAL IS HALTED

Petitions Filed by the Defence Cause Judge Whiting to Order Indefinite Postponement

As a result of two petitions filed in Suffolk Superior Court by attorneys for William J. Corcoran and others, the trial of Corcoran and co-defendants in the Middlesex Court was indefinitely postponed by Judge Winifred Whiting today.



Wm. J. Corcoran Attorney Joseph P. Walsh

The petitions were served on Judge Whiting and immediately afterward he directed that counsel for both the State and Corcoran and the other defendants keep in touch with him, but that the trial would be postponed until after the petitions have been acted upon.

The first petition, filed by Attorney Joseph P. Walsh, representing Corcoran, is a writ of mandamus, directing Judge Whiting to appear before the Supreme Court Saturday morning and show cause why Corcoran and those indicted with him should not be allowed a reasonable time in which to make pleas or file motions in connection with the new indictments returned against them by the Middlesex grand jury.

The second petition, filed by Attorney W. E. Weeks, seeks a writ of prohibition, restraining Judge Whiting from proceeding further in the trial of Corcoran and others. The petition alleges the judge has no jurisdiction in the cases and it also directs the judge to appear before the Supreme Court Saturday morning and give satisfactory evidence that he does have proper jurisdiction.

The action of the attorneys for the defendants follows the action of the Middlesex Grand Jury, which was hastily summoned yesterday and returned new indictments against Corcoran and his co-defendants, after Judge Whiting had ruled that two of the indictments were faulty.

The petitions were served on Judge Whiting by Sheriff Fairbairn.

Cotter of the Athens street station, South Boston, was dismissed. Patrolman Walter E. McIntee of the Roxbury Crossing station was found guilty of conduct unbecoming an officer and was sentenced to perform 105 hours punishment duty.

RECORD PURCHASE OF BURLEY TOBACCO

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 18. The largest single sale of leaf tobacco on record has just been announced by the Burley Tobacco Growers' Cooperative Association, which sold to Liggett & Myers Tobacco Company sixty million pounds of Burley Leaf. Included in the purchase was a very large quantity of old Burley Tobacco, 1922 Crop —the best Burley ever grown in Kentucky, possessing an unusual quality and flavor. Liggett & Myers Tobacco Company will use it in the manufacture of their widely-known brands, especially Velvet Smoking Tobacco, insuring a superior quality.

The year 1922 was a "vintage year" for Burley tobacco—the best Kentucky ever grew.

Favored all through the season with exceptional tobacco weather—just enough warmth and not too much rain—the crop developed a "body" and character seldom before equaled.

Our recent 60-million-pound purchase included a big carry-over from this fine crop.

Fine quality—mild, full, mellow flavor—this is nothing new for Velvet smokers; but this big supply is an extra safeguard. The same price—mark this well—the same quality as always: "The best Burley grown in Kentucky."

'YOLANDA' HAS BRILLIANT OPENING

Marion Davies Makes Another Remarkable Dual Characterization

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS.

New York, Feb. 20 (Universal)—At the Cosmopolitan Theatre, Tuesday night, "Yolanda" had a premiere that has been accorded to few motion picture productions. But if Marion Davies' latest historical drama had been presented without the warm pulsating color of the brilliant first night audience, the exquisite strains of music and the well directed prologue—"Yolanda" would still have stood out as a fine artistic production, great in a way that few pictures have ever achieved greatness.

With the remembrance of the glamor of the Fifteenth Century embellished so accurately and so beautifully by Joseph Urban in his execution of the sets—there is one scene that stands out in my mind. One dramatic high light that I shall never forget.

A scene where Marion Davies, a frail, slender figure in white, walks across the bridge into the alien country of France to become the bride of the feebleminded son of the scheming and dissolute Louis XI.

Terrified beyond words, yet proud and every inch the Princess, she walks to her fate. That moment is so breath-taking that there were "Ohs" and Ahs" of admiration, both for the beauty of the scene and for Miss Davies' work as an actress.

Charles Major's story, adapted by Luther Reed, gives Miss Davies a latitude of characterization that is not even exceeded in "Little Old New York," where she plays both a boy and a girl. In "Yolanda" she is called upon to delineate two characters that are widely different. As Yolanda, Miss Davies is a mischievous adorable child.

William Randolph Hearst discovered early in his picture making progress that to get results he must have the best talent available and I believe one reason that he has made uniformly good pictures is because he has insisted that every role be portrayed by an artist.

Take Holbrook Blinn as Louis XI. We go away from the theatre visualizing Louis XI. as Mr. Blinn makes him—a man bordering on the verge of insanity, a hereditary trait, capable of the most sinister schemes and plans.

A half hour before Victor Herbert raised the baton which stilled the assembly, the brilliant throng milled up and down the aisles. A motion picture itself of a proud world of the present, as is "Yolanda" a picture of a proud world of the past. Greetings flew from row to row, from aisle to aisle, as the various parties of the social, diplomatic and artistic worlds entered.

Dog Show Draws Interest of Sport Loving Society, Says Betty Alden

By BETTY ALDEN.

WITH the blonde beauty and vivacity of manner, tall and slender Miss Helen Bayley would naturally make a most attractive portrait subject.

Albert Felix Schmitt, the well-known artist, has made an interesting painting of her, which will be seen in the exhibition of this artist's works at the gallery of the Guild of Boston Artists, No. 162 Newbury street, from March 4th to 15th. There will be a private view on Monday afternoon, March 3rd.

Helen Bayley

Mr. Schmitt received considerable praise from art critics when some of his paintings were exhibited at the Boston Art Club three years ago.

Miss Bayley, who made her debut with the buds of '22-23, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Cushing Bayley of Marlboro street. She is a member of the Junior League and Vincent Club.

SPORT-LOVING society is not a little interested in the three-day show of the Eastern Dog Club opening tomorrow at Mechanics Building.

Though many of Boston's "first family" contingent are interested merely as spectators, not a few are listed as exhibitors or judges.

All eyes, of course, will be turned on Champion Barberryhill Bootlegger, the little Sealyham terrier, who last week trotted proudly from the ring at Madison Square Garden after being judged the "best in show." He is owned by Bayard Warren of Pride's Crossing.

Quincy S. Shaw McKean is entering some of his smooth-haired fox terriers, among them Pride's Hill Reputation and Pride's Hill Clapton Fragrant. Boxwood Barkentine, the wonderful Airedale, who created such a sensation two years ago, will again be exhibited by Frederic C. Hood of Brookline.

Among the bull terriers will be Champion Cloudland Scrapper, owned by William B. Emmons, and Benny the Avenger, owned by Nathaniel F. Simmons.

Walter Channing of Dover is entering Grim of Lefjell, a Norwegian Elkhound, the first of his breed to be imported into this country since 1911.

Bayard Tuckerman, Jr., is judging fox hound entries, and Joe R. Thorndike of Brookline, Irish terriers, which means that the Thorncroft Irish terriers, which made such a brilliant showing in New York last week, will have to be content with a place on the bench.

The Boston dogs are to have plenty of competition from distant kennels, including the Doberman Pinschers, owned by George H. Earle, 3rd, of Philadelphia, and the Shepherd dogs entered by P. A. B. Widener, also of the Quaker City.

HUB MAN MISSING OFF SOUND LINER

New London, Ct., Feb. 20.—When the steamer Chester W. Chapin, from New York, docked here, police found a stateroom registered in the name of Patrick J. McGuire of Boston and New York was empty. McGuire is believed to have been swept overboard by a heavy sea in Long Island Sound. The bed had been slept in and on the floor were two suit cases.

In clothing was found a letter from the Democratic League of Massachusetts addressed to Patrick J. McGuire of 322 West Forty-second street, New York, and No. 614 Warrenton street, Boston. McGuire was unknown at the Boston address.

SEES CAUSE FOR SHAME IF POLE TRIP IS HALTED

America Will Be Joke in Eyes of World, Says Explorer

Washington, Feb. 20. (Universal)—"It will be a cause for shame to the entire country, as well as the service, if the navy's Arctic flight on the Shenandoah is called off. We shall be a joke in the eyes of explorers and scientific men all over the world."

Thus declared Captain Evelyn B. Baldwin, head of the Baldwin-Ziegler expedition, and now connected with the legal department of the Shipping Board, to Universal Service.

Captain Baldwin hopes with the navy officers that some way can be found out of the embarrassment, but he agrees that unless action is taken in a few days, the trip is off for this year.

Meantime, friends of the expedition are paging Harry Payne Whitney, noted sportsman, who has been summoned to the oil hearings, in the hope that he might answer the S O S by putting up the money need for the venture.

A similar situation arose in 1879, when the late James Gordon Bennett bought the steamer Jeanette and sent her through Behring Strait under command of Rear Admiral George W. DeLong.

The Jeanette discovered Wrangle and made possible a later landing there by the Karluk, which went out to relieve her sorely distressed crew. DeLong and half of his crew perished, but the expedition added much to scientific knowledge.

SETH H. MILLIKEN ESTATE $9,000,000

New York, Feb. 20.—The net value of the estate of Seth H. Milliken, who died in March, 1920, is $9,423,317, an appraisal reveals. Mr. Milliken was a member of the cotton goods firm of Deering, Milliken & Co., until he retired in 1915. He left a fifth of the estate to his daughter, Mrs. Margaret H. Hatch, and the rest to his sons, Dr. Seth M. Milliken and Gerrish M. Milliken.

GOODWIN SAYS JUDGE WAS "FOOLING"

Motor Registrar Adds That Raymie Skilton Knocked His Honor "for a Goal"

Judge Dowd of Municipal Court was "only fooling" when, from the bench, he knocked the Registry of Motor Vehicles while dismissing a charge of failing to register his machine, against Raymie Skilton, hockey star.

Registrar Goodwin himself says the judge was only "fooling." He knows the judge was only fooling because they used to play ball together. Goodwin admitted, incidentally, that Judge Dowd was "a pretty good second baseman" at that. The registrar declared, however, that "Raymie Skilton knocked him (the judge) for a goal yesterday.

Frank A. Goodwin.

Raymie Skilton.

Today the score stands tied, with the move up to Judge Dowd, although the registrar, in stating that "So far as I am concerned, it seems to be open season for the judges," indicates that he expects to be a target at any time.

Judge Dowd.

Skilton, when arraigned in Municipal Court, defended his alleged omission to register his machine by declaring that he had not received his plates, although he had sent a check, as instructed by the registrar's office.

Judge Dowd, in dismissing the charge, remarked that, while they boasted of doing great things in the registrar's office, he himself knew of a few small things.

It is estimated that about 100 of the 3,300 students are car owners or have cars here belonging to their parents.

WOMEN EXILES FIND LIFE IN AMERICA HARD

Italian Countess in Jail; Former Rich Russian Earns Living as Waitress

Two distinguished European women who left their native soil to come to the Promised Land, find themselves in very difficult and trying predicaments in California cities.

One, Countess Ramona Gradenigo of Italy, is in the county jail in Los Angeles, where she was committed for a year for passing worthless checks when she found herself penniless.

The fact that soon after she started serving her sentence she inherited $8,000,000 from her great-grandfather in Italy, lends her little consolation in her dreary dungeon.

The other, Alexandra Logvinenko, daughter of a Russian general, reared in luxury and now an exile, is earning a meager living as a waitress in a San Francisco restaurant. This was revealed in the Golden Gate city when Mrs. Logvinenko was granted a divorce from her husband, Alexander, whom she charged with non-support.

Word of the accident was first received by telegraph by Mrs. Mary E. Stackpole of Lewiston, Me., mother of the dead man.

Stackpole served for 22 months overseas with the 14th Division Engineers.

BAY STATE 'DRY' IS ANDERSON'S SUCCESSOR

Arthur J. Davis Pledges War on Rich New York Scofflaws

Arthur J. Davis of Reading, for thirteen years superintendent of the Massachusetts Anti-Saloon League, was elected head of the New York state branch of the League, succeeding William H. Anderson.

Anderson resigned after being convicted of making forged entries in his accounts. Davis took up his new duties today.

In Massachusetts, Davis warred continuously against "highbrow opponents of prohibition" whom he termed "more dangerous and reprehensible than the alien." He demanded prison penalties for all offenders.

Davis' co-workers declare that he stated that his war against liquor in New York will be featured by the following:—

Condemnation of lawyers, who though sworn to uphold the laws devote their intelligence and legal training to defend violators of the law.

Maximum penalties for rich "scofflaws."

Consolidation of the liquor fighting forces in New York to secure maximum strength and effectiveness by gearing up State law enforcement machinery with the 18th amendment and utilizing every police in the State to enforce prohibition.

N. Y. POLICE HEAD IS BANK DIRECTOR

New York, Feb. 20.—Police Commissioner Enright is a director of the Prisco State Bank, on Mulberry street in the lower East Side, it was learned when the bank opened its doors to business and a portrait of the commissioner was revealed on the lobby wall.

It was recalled that Raphael Prisco, president of the bank, was made an honorary inspector of the Police Department shortly after he kissed the Commissioner on both cheeks upon his return from Bermuda.

It was understood that about 7,000 pushcart peddlers had reserved safety deposit boxes in the new bank.

COUNT LEAVES BOSTON AFTER CHALLENGE

Friends Deny, However, That Spurned Suitor Feared to Fight

Suitor Spurned

MISS VIRGINIA DODGE.

Friends of Alphonse, the young Count D'Ornano, who is on his way to New York, Washington and Palm Beach, were incensed today when they read in a morning newspaper the intimation that the French nobleman left the Hotel Copley-Plaza and Boston through fear of Dr. Irving Perry Dodge.

Dr. Dodge, superintendent of a Back Bay hospital and father of Virginia Katherine Dodge, had objected to D'Ornano's attendance upon his daughter and had publicly declared that Virginia was never to become the bride of "any foreigner."

FRIENDS DEFEND COUNT.

Stress was laid today upon the fact that the Count had left Boston "quietly," the veiled suggestion being that he feared attack.

"No meaner or more cruel suggestion has ever been made," declared one of D'Ornano's many friends at the Hotel Copley-Plaza.

"The Count D'Ornano is a man of honor, who, not once but four times, has defended that honor with his sword. To intimate that he ran away from Boston in fear of a stout, elderly person, who probably knows little if anything about duelling, would be ridiculous if it did not touch upon a subject so delicate."

In one report, the Count D'Ornano was described as having read in the newspapers the story of a visit to his hotel by an elderly man who asked for "that count," declared he had read that the Count wanted to fight, and yelled that he was on the ground to accommodate him.

DAD DENIES CHALLENGE.

Dr. Dodge, father of the charming society girl, who has suffered so much unpleasant notoriety since her father declared himself in favor of a son-in-law "one hundred per cent. American," declared following D'Ornano's departure from Boston that he has absolutely no feeling against the young man who, on the whole, struck the physician as "not a bad sort, by any means."

"So far as I can recall," said Dr. Dodge, "I have never mentioned him by name to any newspaperman. All I said was that Virginia, when she marries, must marry an American. I have never said a word against foreigners, as such, or noblemen, as such.

"It is my belief, based upon observation and experience, that marriage is most likely to be successful when the contracting parties are alike in nationality and have similar tastes and ideals.

THREE POLICEMEN DETECT "THE BAT"

Officers of the Boston police force were invited by the management of "The Bat" to attend the performance last Monday night at the Boston Opera House, and first, second and third prizes of $25, $15 and $10 were offered to those who could solve the mystery of who "The Bat" was.

The winner of the first prize was Harry A. Brown, of Station No. 13. The second and third prizes were won by George J. Fallon of the superintendent's office, and Edwin M. Peardon of No. 82 Warren st., Roxbury.

The winners have been invited to occupy boxes with their families at tomorrow night's performance, at which time the przies will be presented.

SHOT IN MONEY ROW, MAN DIES IN HOSPITAL

Slayer Escapes After Melee in East Boston House; Police Hunt on

A dispute over an alleged debt of $25 resulted in the death early today in the East Boston Relief Hospital of Salvatore Ardizzone, thirty-seven years old, of No. 100 Bremen street, and has made Rosaro Trovato thirty-five years old, of the same address, a fugitive from justice hunted by the police of twenty nearby cities.

Ardizzone, Trovato and Rocco Torotti, thirty-four years old, all of whom married sisters whom they left behind in Milan five years ago, but whom they hoped to bring to the United States in one of this year's monthly quotas, kept bachelors' hall in an East Boston tenement house.

The three gave a little party to which they invited Giovanni Sacco, a friend, and Mr. and Mrs. Nicola Ianotti, their neighbors on the floor below.

TALK OVER MONEY.

A little native wine was served and then the talk turned to the subject nearest to the hearts of the three hosts, the expected arrival from Italy this year of their wives.

There was some discussion of finances, as the police assembled the story, and Ardizzone, addressing Trovato, is said to have remarked.

"I'll be all right when I get that $25 from you."

"From me?" Rosaro Trovato is reported to have replied in apparent amazement, "what $25?"

Ardizzone answered, "The $25 you owe me."

"Pooh!" exclaimed Trovato, turning to the others, "hear the man rave!" He faced Ardizzone again and said coldly, "I owe you nothing—nothing!"

JUMPED AT TROVATO.

Ardizzone, the witnesses are said to be agreed, turned white with anger and yelled, "You rat! You thief! I'll kill you!"

Grasping a bread knife from the table he sprang at Trovato, who jumped away from it and pulling a .32-calibre revolver from a hip pocket fired one shot. The bullet entered Ardizzone's chest.

Mrs. Ianotti screamed and fainted. Hatless and coatless, Rosaro Trovato ran out into the night and disappeared. One of the other men telephoned to the East Boston police station and a squad of patrolmen led by Sergeant Fitzgerald were at the scene of the killing within a few minutes. Ardizzone was hurried to the hospital. Within three hours he was dead.

DECLARES REALTY EXPERT OVERPAID

As a result of a controversy over the fee to be paid John Beck, real estate expert for the city, for his work in appraising the value of the site taken for the new police headquarters on Stuart street, the Finance Commission has written to Mayor Curley urging that in the future no one should be employed exclusively for the work that Mr. Beck has been doing.

Beck, the Finance Commission pointed out, submitted a bill for $750 for his services. That sum, the Commission believes to be exorbitant in the absence of an agreement. In accordance with the schedule of fees fixed by the Boston Real Estate Exchange, of which Mr. Beck is a member, his fee should have been only $324, the Finance Commission stated.

MOTHER ARRESTED FOR BALKING DOCTOR

New Haven, Feb. 20.—Mrs. Mary Zerrosky, of No. 225 Fitch street, who declined to allow her daughter's foot to be amputated, has been arrested. The child is suffering from a serious injury and the physicians in attendance insist that the foot must be amputated if the child's life is to be saved. The father of the little girl is dead and the mother is uneducated. The child has been confined to her home on Fitch street, but has been going to the New Haven Dispensary for treatment. She is about nine years of age.

TO TEST SANITY OF "L" CONDUCTOR

Joseph L. Driscoll of No. 115 Cabot street, Roxbury Crossing, former Boston Elevated conductor, was taken from the East Cambridge Jail and committed to the Psychopathic Hospital for observation by United States Deputy Marshal James Fraser.

Driscoll is under bonds, in the United States Court waiting a hearing on a charge of sending through the mails to E. A. Kelly, Elevated Superintendent, an objectionable letter.

BRIDE OF SIX DAYS MAY BE DEPORTED

Springfield, Feb. 20.—Deportation to Italy confronts Mrs. Rosalia Vituralo, thirty-three-year-old bride of six days, unless investigation shows she entered the country legally. She is being held by the police pending investigation, having been picked up while wandering aimlessly on city streets after refusing o live with her new husband, Vincenzo Vituralo, Westfield, merchant widower with five children.

MANY FALL ON NEW TRAFFIC RULES

Summonses to Be Issued to Scores of Autoists Who Failed to Observe Changes

Summonses were issued today for all motorists who fell into the police dragnet for violation of speed laws and one-way regulations on the first night of the new traffic rules.

A large squad of traffic police laid traps for unsuspecting drivers on Tremont, Washington, Boylston streets, Huntington, Massachusetts and Commonwealth avenues and branch streets.

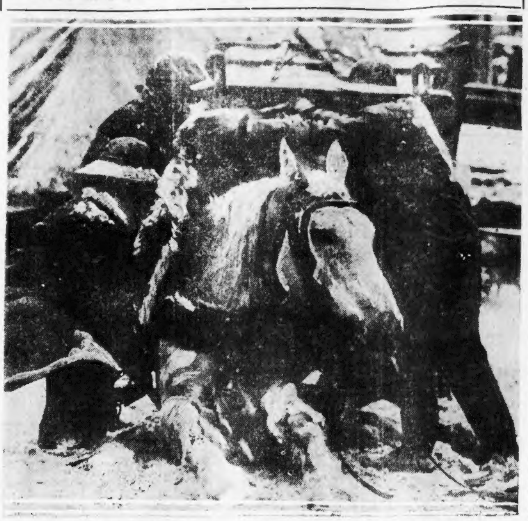
Among the many taken for violating the one-way regulations were three taxi drivers going north on Tremont street. Most of those stopped pleaded ignorance of the new system.

Parking rules were also flagrantly disregarded, the night squad found. Those charged with this offence will be lectured by the police.

STRAYER ARGUES FOR EDUCATION BILL

Washington, Feb. 20.—Creation of a federal department of education, as proposed by the Sterling-Reed bill, was advocated before the House Education Committee today by George T. Strayer, chairman of the legislative Committee of the National Education Association, and a member of the faculty of Teachers' College, Columbia University.

TRAFFIC IN GRIP OF BLIZZARD



MAN AND BEAST FEEL THE CUT OF STORM'S WHIP
Horses were hard hit today by the effect of the storm. Such occurrences as the above, taken at Summer and Kingston streets, were common all over town.

BALLOON TIRES IN NON-PUNCTURE TEST

Balloon tires are attracting attention among motorists and a Paige, 6-70, equipped with Firestone Balloon tires of a very large size known as "seven-thirties" demonstrated their merits here when the car was driven over a large glass bottle. The tires were not cut when the bottle broke. The car was then backed upon the broken glass.

The car also proved to be a snowbird and easily went over large drifts where the ordinary tire with chains would probably have been stalled. Without chains, the test car did not seem to skid on the ice. The tires also gave it a greater braking surface and the car could be stopped very quickly.

STORM WHIPS IN

and electric trains and before noon schedules were practically abandoned and trains were run as best they could.

The storm practically tied up shipping at the Boston wharves. Early in the day Captain Wheeler of the Tampa wirelessed that six rum-running boats were in a bad way about twelve miles outside the harbor, and that he was standing by to render aid in case the boats needed it.

Captain Wheeler reported that the rum-laden crafts were all outside the legal limit recently fixed by treaty and that he could take no action until help was asked.

He was directed to cruise about in the vicinity of the rum boats.

OUTSIDE OF BOSTON.

The centre of the storm, according to officials of the Weather Bureau, is centred over Maryland, but it extends completely from the Gulf to Canada.

Towns surrounding Boston suffered considerably from the heavy snowfall. At Springfield all schools were ordered closed at noon while trolleys there were reported as being in considerable difficulty.

Worcester reported trolley and steam rail service practically paralyzed as a result of the storm, with all transportatio nfacilities badly crippled.

New York State reports indicate that almost the entire State is storm-bound with Buffalo and the adjacent territory practically buried under a heavy snowfall.

In New York City the storm tied up traffic on the Elevated and surface cars and the street department made a frantic effort to keep the city clear of drifts.

In Somerville, Arlington, Chelsea, Cambridge, Malden, Revere, Woburn and Watertown the school authorities quickly realized that the going was impossible and the schools were ordered closed for the day.

The weather man promises better conditions for tomorrow. Fair and colder — the prognostication for Thursday, although the Weather Bureau announces that the gales that are accompanying the snow will continue tonight.

HENSHAW MOTORS TO KEEP OPEN HOUSE

C. S. Henshaw, president of the Henshaw Motor Company, has planned a unique display for celebrating his twenty-ninth year in the automobile industry. The company will keep open house on Washington's Birthday and will have on exhibition trophies won in the first "Horseless Vehicle" races nearly a century ago. The latest type of Dodge cars will also be on display.

CONVICT 3D MAN FOR BROOKLYN MURDER

John Farina Joins Diamond Brothers as Death Chair Candidates in Gotham

New York, Feb. 20.—John Farina was convicted at 3:34 a.m. today by a jury for participating in the robbery and murder of two Brooklyn bank messengers, for which two of his confederates, Joseph and Morris Barlow Diamond, brothers, have been convicted and are awaiting formal sentence to death.

Tony Pantano, the fourth man arrested charged with participation in the crime which occurred on an "L" station in Brooklyn last November, is the next to go on trial. A fifth alleged conspirator, George Di Saro, is a fugitive from justice.

The prosecution of the case has been accomplished more speedily than any other in recent metropolitan history. Farina's case required two days of trial; Joseph Diamond's three days, and the elder Diamond, the first to be tried, only two days. The jury was out four hours and twenty-nine minutes.

ANTI-BONUS PLEA WRITER IS FIRED

New York, Feb. 20.—William V. Swords, former vice-president and general manager of the Aeolian Company, has been dismissed because of his letter to employes suggesting that they write to New York Senators opposing the bonus and adding that a check-up would disclose what employes had acted on the suggestion. The incident aroused the disfavor of President Coolidge after the American Legion Weekly reprinted the letter as an example of coercion by business men opposing a soldier bonus.

POLICE FAIL TO FIND MISSING PAYMASTER

Tip That Anderson Was in South End House Proves Fruitless

Police from the Roxbury Crossing Station, accompanied by police of Reading and a State police officer, raided a house on Sterling street, Roxbury, in search of Arthur A. Anderson of Lynn, missing paymaster of the F. J. Basker Shoe Company of Reading. Anderson was not found.

The police were informed that Anderson, the missing paymaster, was in the company of a notorious New York and Boston bootlegger and gambler.

From the Sterling street house the search for Anderson led to a downtown hotel but no trace of the paymaster or his New York companion was found.

Crowd Marvels as Electric Light Pole Burns

The unusual sight of an electric light pole afire attracted a crowd to Hanover and Union streets, North End. The pole burst into flames near its base and the fire worked upward quickly.

The fire is believed to have started either from escaping illuminating gas or a worn ground connection. Patrolman Craig prevented watchers from sounding an alarm and telephoned for one piece of apparatus.

ROXBURY SAFE ROBBERS GET $400 LOOT

Bandits Raid Store in Early Morning Under Cover of Driving Snowstorm

The driving snowstorm early today covered the movements of robbers who obtained $300 in cash and $100 in checks from the confectionery store of Max Yuretsky at No. 374 Blue Hill avenue, Roxbury, after ripping open Yuretsky's safe.

Entrance to the store was gained through a rear door, which the yeggmen forced.

The robbery was discovered by Yuretsky when he opened the shop for business today.

Yuretsky found the thieves had cut a hole through the wall in the front entrance to gain an entrance. A blanket was used to shield the thieves from the view of passersby.

MONTE CARLO GAMES TO END SOON, HF SAYS

New York, Feb. 20.—The wheels of fortune at Monte Carlo may within the next few years be spun for the last time. The famous gambling casino may be closed by Prince Louis of Monaco when the present concessionaire's contract terminates, about 1927.

That is the story brought back here today by Frank Elser, a writer, of Cranford, N. J., who arrived with his family on the Adriatic. He says it is generally known that Prince Louis, who succeeded to the title upon the death in 1922 of his father, Prince Albert, abhors gambling.

RALSTON NAMED AS LEADER OF DEMOCRATS

Will Be Nominated for Presidency, Is Taggart Prediction

New York, Feb. 20—"United States Senator Samuel W. Ralston, of Indiana will, in my judgment, be nominated for the Presidency of the United States by the Democratic national convention in New York next June."

Former United States Senator Thomas T. Taggart of Indiana Democratic leader, made this prophecy at the Waldorf-Astoria.

Mr. Taggart is recovering from an operation and is on his way to the Bahama Islands. Prior to his illness he participated in many conferences at French Lick Springs with Charles F. Murphy, of New York, and other leaders.

Senator Taggart said:

"I find that McAdoo men, Smith men, Davis men and supporters of other candidates are disposed to make Senator Ralston second choice."

HUSBAND SAID WHY NOT TRY IT

Wife Said She Would. Result, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Her Well and Strong

East Hardwick, Vermont.—"Last winter I was not able to do any work at all. I had backache, headache, sideache, and was sick all the time for six months. We read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the newspapers, and my husband said to me, 'Why don't you try it?' So I said I would, and he went and got me a dozen bottles. It has done me more good than I can ever tell, and my friends say, 'What have you done to yourself? You look so well.' I tell them it is the Vegetable Compound that makes me so well and strong. There is no use to suffer with backache and pains. I will tell every one what it has done for me."—Mrs. FRED. PRIMO, Route No. 2, E. Hardwick, Vermont.

RAPS PROTEST OF RUMANIA AS "IMPUDENT"

Johnson Hopes the Attitude of Foreigners Will Lead to Drastic Alien Laws

Washington, Feb. 20.—Chairman Johnson of the Immigration Committee told the House today he had received an "impudent" protest from the Rumanian legation against provisions of the new immigration bill.

The protest had been forwarded to the committee by Secretary Hughes and was read on the House floor by Mr. Johnson. It read:

"It should be considered that the adoption of the census of 1890 as a basis for the new immigration quota would not only deeply wound the pride of the Rumanian people, but also strongly affect their material interests, inasmuch as Rumanian immigrants by their savings, increase the amount of stable currency available for commercial and financial purposes in Rumania.

"This in turn would not fail to have a detrimental effect on the chances of Rumania to speedily attain its goal, economic recuperation, an aim which cannot be indifferent to any government interested in assisting the world to recover from the consequences of the World War."

After reading the communication to the House, Mr. Johnson declared that "these impudent protests received from foreign governments to recuperate at the expense of the American people will have the result soon, I hope, of insuring enactment of really restrictive immigration legislation."

LEGIONS HOLIDAY ATHLETIC MEET ATTRACTS 700 ENTRIES

EAGLES AND BATES IN RELAY

Charlie Gorman, director of the American Legion meet to be held on the holiday afternoon at the East Armory, is swamped with entries for what promises to be the most successful athletic event ever held under the Legion auspices.

Seven hundred athletes, including college and high school stars, will be seen in action in the various events. Thirty-eight teams have been entered in the relay events, although not all have been matched.

Jack Ryder

One of the big features will be the two-mile relay race between Boston College and Bates. The Eagle relay team holds the national indoor championship, and is favored to defeat Bates.

Next to Boston College, Bates has one of the finest relay teams in the East. Coach Jack Ryder, no mean judge of runners, feels that his Eagle charges will be forced the limit to win.

Harvard and Dartmouth will engage in both the mile and two-mile relay races. The Green flyers are keen for the clash with Harvard, and should furnish another battle worth seeing.

In the American Legion mile, Joie Ray is conceded first place, but if Joie succeeds in defeating the fast field against him he will deserve much credit. Ray is scheduled to run at Georgetown Thursday night, and will be forced to make a flying trip to Boston in order to run here.

Joie Ray

Although Jake Driscoll is not entered in the Gaston 600-yard run, there will be plenty of competition among a group of six of the best to be chosen from the long list of entries.

No one has been overlooked by the Legion management in making the affair of the widest possible interest. There will be dash and relay events open to the school boys, and events have been arranged for the girls.

Jake Driscoll

Boston fans will be interested in the four cornered battle among relay teams representing municipal gymnasiums. The elimination series which has been held among the Boston gymns for months left the Columbia Road, Vine Street, Curtis Hall and Roslindale gymnasiums to battle for the championship in the city.

Service men will have something to excite them in the one-mile relay which will be put on by the Community A. A., Orient Heights Post, A. L., and the second battalion, National Guard.

The following events will be run off at the meet:

DASHES

50-yard, schoolboy.
50-yard, open handicap.
50-yard, for girls, open.

DISTANCE RUNS

1,000-yard, schoolboy.
600-yard, Gaston Cup, special invitation.
440-yard, schoolboy.
880-yard, open handicap.
One mile run, special invitation.

TWIN BILL BIG ATTRACTION AT ARENA

Harvard will play Hamilton College of Clinton, N. Y., and Boston College will tackle the Maples in a Winsor cup game at the Arena tonight.

Gordon McKay

Harvard's gallant work against Princeton Monday night when the Crimson won, 2 to 1, after 20 minutes of exciting overtime play, proved that the Winsor-coached team has finally found itself.

The other half of tonight's double bill that features Boston College and the Maples should bristle with situations.

Every seat has been disposed of for the big holiday double-header that will feature the B. A. A. against the Boston Hockey Club and the Maples against New Haven.

Ed Mullowney

Manager Brown of the Arena is negotiating with Huntingdon Academy of Quebec for a game here with the series. Huntingdon is highly recommended by Gerry Wiggett, the referee.

Manager Brown is also negotiating with the Ottawa Shamrocks, Sons of Ireland and the Nationals of Montreal for games here with club and colleges teams.

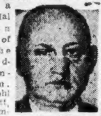
FOHL COMMANDS THE RED SOX SPECIAL

By FRED C. LANE

St. Louis, Feb. 20 (on Board the Red Sox Special).—The Red Sox party took on all the aspects of a real club on the way South when two ball players and the manager joined the party bound for San Antonio, Tex.

Twelve hours layoff in Cleveland gave Lee Fohl a chance to round up rookie battery candidates who aspire to put the Red Sox in this year's fight.

Fohl took command of the party on our arrival at Cleveland, Charles Dornkott, a pitcher, and Hal Rosenbach, an outfielder of note of the Cleveland sandlots, accompanied him. Manager Fohl praises Dornkott, who was a member of the same team with George Uhle, now of Cleveland.



Jim Price

Al Schillings joined at Albany. Schillings is a candidate for third base and is highly recommended by Bill Stewart, coach of Harvard's second team, and Alfred Newnhan, a former teammate of President Quinn back in the nineties. Schillings is a quiet unassuming fellow.

Schillings had had considerable baseball experience on the sand-lots of Albany. He has played for ten years, although only twenty-three years old.

The Albany recruit left his pool and lunch room to join the squad. He has played every position in the infield. His best bet as a semi-pro player was behind the bat, but he hopes to grab the hot-corner berth.

Manager Fohl is responsible for the appearance of Dornkott's name on the Red Sox roster. He has watched the performance of this youngster since he doffed his high school uniform and feels the right-hander is fit for fast company.

A real Western storm hit the train as it left Cleveland, but it had little effect on the happiness that permeates the Sox troupe.

EAGLE SQUAD LOSES CATCHER SULLIVAN

Frank "Gaspipe" Sullivan, catcher for the North Cambridge Twilight League baseball nine, and formerly of Boston College, has left the Newton college, possibly with a prospect to enter a major league.

Frank Sullivan

With "Eddie" Phillips missing also when Coach Henriksen calls the roll at the Armory in the near future, the Eagles' backstop position looks dubious.

From all indications, Harold "Plaster" Ward will fill in the vacancy, putting almost an entire football backfield on the diamond.

Two Hero Dogs Among Those Benched

Can Bootlegger repeat?

That was the most important question considered by those who gathered at Mechanics Building in preparation for the opening of the twelfth annual Eastern Dog Club show.

Babe Ruth.

If Bayard Warren's prize Sealyham, which swept aside 1,800 of the best dogs in America at the Westminster Kennel Club's show in New York last week, can emerge on top in the local exhibition, he will be hailed as the champion of champions.

Although the total number of dogs to be benched in the Boston show is somewhat under that of New York, the field will be as classy, for practically all of the New York winners will be here.

Welwire Barrington Bridegroom, a snappy, well-built and confident little wire-haired fox terrier owned by Homer Gage, Jr., of Worcester, looms up as one of the chief opponents of Bootlegger.

Bridegroom was imported by Gage for the considerable sum of about $6,000 and was judged as the best fox terrier in the Terrier Specialty show at New York ten days ago.

He was not entered at the Westminster Kennel Club event because Gage preferred to have him make his American debut in an all-breed show here.

Miss Cornelia Vanderbilt

The scene at Mechanics Building at noon as the dogs arrived and were being liberated from their crates was unusual to some of the spectators, but typical to the closer devotees of the sport.

As they were prepared by their trainers for the big test which starts tomorrow, they were handled as carefully as the most temperamental opera star.

Ben Lewis, who handles dogs for Miss Cornelia Vanderbilt and John Sincott of Philadelphia, and Alf Delmont, the trainer for the wire-haired fox terriers owned by Irving C. Ackerman, the moving picture magnate from Los Angeles, were among the earliest of the veterans to appear.

Babe Ruth's bull terrier, Cloudland Dot, which will be handled in the ring by one of the trainers from the Cloudland Kennels in Woodstock, Vt., where the dog was bred, had not put in an appearance up to early afternoon, but will be properly trimmed, combed, scrubbed and made ready for her first competition before the show opens.

The Harvard rifle team will shoot against the Drexel Institute in the Freshman Dormitory gallery tonight. Harvard rules favorite.

AMATEURS AT SULLIVAN SQ. HOLIDAY SHOW

The Sullivan Square Athletic Club is putting on an amateur show Friday evening, in Cauley Hall, Charlestown. Five classes will be held, 112, 118, 126, 135, 147, and novice heavyweight class. Entries can be made through John D. O'Brien, No. 68 Decatur street, Charlestown.

FITTON COUNCIL TO HOLD SHOW TONIGHT

At Columbus Hall, Maverick Square, East Boston, Fitton Council K of C will hold its amateur boxing tournament tonight.

The cream of the amateur boxers will compete in the open classes at 112, 126 and 147 pounds, and many aspiring amateurs will compete in the novice classes at 118 and 135 pounds.

As indications point to a long show the committee in charge requests boxers to be on hand early.

DELANEY WINNER OVER LOUGHRAN BY A WIDE MARGIN

HAS LEAD IN SEVEN ROUNDS

Battling Jack Delaney of Bridgeport decisively defeated Tommy Loughran of Philadelphia, before a large and somewhat surprised gathering of fans in the feature fight of ten rounds held by the Commercial A. C. in Mechanics Building.

Loughran caught a tartar in the hard hitting Bridgeport boy and was treated to an artistic lacing.

Loughran was unable to hold the Bridgeport battler at bay and was the receiving end during the greater portion of the contest.

Delaney proved to be one of the hardest punchers ever seen in a local ring and more than made good all the rosy predictions of his many friends, greatly to the woe of the gamblers who made Tommy Loughran a heavy favorite.

Loughran had an advantage of six pounds. He came in at 168 against 162 by Delaney and had some advantage in height and reach also.

Loughran's best punch was a straight left jab and an occasional right cross. Delaney punched freely and hard with both hands from all angles and positions, and his body wallops were damaging.

In the semi-final Jimmie Bones and Tommy Milton put up an amusing contest for eight rounds. Bones supplied the amusement and Milton the fighting and the decision was well earned by Milton.

In one of the other eight-rounders Willie Patterson of Philadelphia fought Billie Innes of Fall River. It was an even thing until the last round when Patterson punched his way to victory.

The curtain-raiser found Bobbie Lowery of Scotland and Victor Searles of East Boston the contestants. After eight rounds the verdict was handed to Lowery.

Says Tex Rickard In League With 'Specs'

By UNIVERSAL SERVICE.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 20.—The ancient antipathy between Tom O'Rourke, veteran fight manager and promoter, and Tex Rickard, most daring boxing impresario in the world, has flared out again.

Tom O'Rourke

O'Rourke charged Rickard was in league with ticket speculators. He mentioned specifically a block of $135,000 worth of tickets for the Dempsey-Firpo fight last September, which he said, were turned over by the Madison Square Garden promoter to the Jacobs Ticket Agency in New York city.

O'Rourke said these tickets were held for fabulous prices and were not sold and that, although Jacobs, on Broadway, demanded fancy prices that even fight "bugs" would not pay, every ticket booth and wagon about the Polo Grounds was mobbed. Thousands were turned away.

Tex Rickard

The hearing on the Lord bill to repeal the State boxing law had droned along before the Assembly Ways and Means Committee when O'Rourge made his dramatic accusation. The O'Rourke charges, it is freely admitted about the Capitol, have strengthened the possibility of repeal.

Assemblyman Peter J. Hammill of New York chairman of the committee, had defended the boxing law, but warned the promoters:

"If boxing promoters don't stop the ticket speculation scandal, the boxing law will be repealed. The ticket evil is worse every year. If something is not done to stop this evil, boxing will be annihilated next year."

Then O'Rourke, Former Deputy State Boxing Commissioner, said:

"I represented the Polo Grounds in the fight between Dempsey and Firpo. Early on the day of the fight, Young of our office 'phoned Madison Square Garden and told them there were thirty or forty persons in line and we had only two hundred tickets.

WAS TOLD THA TONY 35 TICKETS REMAINED

"Young was told there were only thirty-five tickets left at the Garden.

"After that I heard that Jacobs, the ticket speculator, had driven up to the spot near the Polo Grounds, Eighth avenue and One Hundred and Fifty-Fifth street, with a wagon and sold tickets from the wagon with police protection.

"We could not get a single ticket, though, mind you, we had every facility for selling them at the Polo Grounds.

"That night, as usual, we started to count the tickets in the Polo Grounds box office, the return coupons of tickets sold. I insisted the coupons should not leave the Polo Grounds but I was over-ruled and they went to the Garden.

THEY WERE COUNTED AT THE GARDEN

"They were counted at the Garden and no member or representative of the Boxing Commission was there. George Smith, represented Tex Rickard and counted the tickets sold. Government officials counted the deadwood.

"Finally $135,000 worth of unsold tickets was returned by Jacobs, for Tex Rickard. In my account to Charles A. Stoneham, president of the Giants and the Polo Grounds Boxing Club, I objected to this procedure."

This was the conversation, as O'Rourke repeated it:

O'Rourke: "You ought to call on Rickard for the tickets."

Stoneham: "What's the use. You can't get anything."

WHAT O'ROURKE SAID AS HE CONTINUED

O'Rourke then continued before the committee to say:

"If you go to Madison Square Garden, now, in advance of any large contest, you can't get a seat nearer than the sixteenth row, even if you go on the day the tickets are returned from the printer. I don't know whether Tex Rickard is here. If he were, I would tell him this to his face, as I have told him often. I believe these conditions should be changed. The Boxing Commission should sell the tickets. That would stop speculation.

"In the statement which was turned into the Boxing Commission on the Dempsey-Firpo fight, 450 complimentary tickets were turned into the State and tax paid for them. The true number was near 8,700. Is that right? I leave you to draw your own conclusions. That thing happens at every big fight."

STASIAK SURE HE'LLBEAT ZBYSZKO

Wladek Zbyszko, mighty son of Poland completed his training for his finish match with Stanley Stasiak, at the Grand Opera House tomorrow night. Zyb came here direct from Chicago and didn't take any chances to wait until the last minute.

Waino Ketonen

He is in the best of shape. If he beats Stasiak he must be in wonderful form. He will find a strong, willing mixer, and one who will force the issue from bell to bell.

No one ever accuses Stanley of stalling. They boo him and jeer him, but when he wrestles they always get a run for their money.

Stasiak seems completely recovered from his recent injury and can see nothing to it but a victory for himself.

He knows "Zibby" is a great wrestler and is as good as can be found on the mat today. Still he thinks he will be the Polish champion and eventually the world's champion.

"What can stop me?" asked the big Pole. "I am stronger and gamer than Zbyszko. I know the game as well as he does and I shall win surely."

The fact that the match is to a positive finish has made a hit with the fans. Matchmaker Paul Bowser says that the match must go to a finish if it takes until morning. There will be no draw, but a winner and a loser.

Poles, who back Stasiak, plan a monster parade should he win. The followers of Zbyszko plan a banquet in his honor after the match.

Nick Bozinis, Greek title contender, is in fine shape for his match with Jack Albright.

Waino Ketonen, world's champion middleweight wrestler, will make his first Boston appearance in more than three years. He meets Billy Rudy in a one-fall contest.

COOLIDGE WILL VETO TAX CUT MEASURE

Will Turn Down Garner Substitute for Mellon Plan if It Passes Senate

Washington, Feb. 20.—Stock dividend profits would be made subject to regular income rates rather than the capital asset tax of 12½ per cent. under an amendment to the revenue bill adopted today by the house.

Washington, Feb. 20 (I.N.S.).—The threat that President Coolidge will veto the Democratic tax reduction rates that are now written into the new revenue bill in place of the Mellon schedules was definitely projected today into the congressional tax fight.

The sharp defeat of the Mellon program by a coalition of Democrats and Progressive-Insurgents, was a distinct shock to the White House, despite the fact that it has long been apparent to unprejudiced observers at the Capitol that the Mellon bill would not be passed as written, with its maximum surtax of 25 per cent.

Pres. Coolidge

Sec. Mellon

The President feels very deeply about the situation, it was said today. The White House was in direct touch with the Capitol during the balloting yesterday, and it was regarded as significant today that the close friends and confidants of the President were openly predicting that he would never approve the Garner reduction rates, with their maximum surtax of 44 per cent.

A White House official, who usually speaks for the President, said:

"The President will not recede one inch from his previously stated position. The Garner plan is fundamentally unsound. Its enactment would wipe out the $300,000,000 surplus now existing in the Treasury and would in fact create a $300,000,000 deficit.

"The President would be more than derelict in his duty if he allowed a measure to become law that would take $600,000,000 out of the public pocket. The present $300,000,000 surplus has been carefully nursed into existence by the Harding and Coolidge administrations through a long series of rigid economies.

FAMOUS MUSEUM IN NAPLES UNSAFE

Naples, Feb. 20—The National Museum building here, containing some of the most valuable art treasures in the world, has been discovered to be unsafe in some sections. Two pillars of the portico leading to the Sixteenth Century courtyard have collapsed and the collection of ancient Greek sculpture within, endangered by the failure of the supports, has been hastily removed.

Here Are Tax Cuts Proposed in Rival Measures

Washington, Feb. 20.—The Democratic income tax substitute adopted by the House provides:

Normal taxes of 2 per cent. on incomes below $5,000; 4 per cent on incomes between $5,000 and $8,000; 6 per cent. on incomes exceeding $8,000.

A graduated surtax scale beginning at 1 per cent. on incomes between $12,000 and $14,000 up to a maximum of 44 per cent. on incomes exceeding $92,000.

Exemptions of $2,000 for single persons and $3,000 for heads of families.

Existing Law Provides:

Normal taxes of 4 per cent. on incomes up to $4,000 and 8 per cent. above $8,000.

Surtaxes beginning at 1 per cent. on incomes between $6,000 and $10,000 and graduating progressively to 50 per cent. on incomes in excess of $200,000.

Exemption of $1,000 for single persons and $2,500 for heads of families.

The Mellon Provision Eliminated Proposed:

Normal rates of 3 per cent. on incomes up to $4,000 and 6 per cent. on incomes exceeding $4,000.

Surtaxes ranging from 1 per cent. on incomes between $10,000 and $12,000 to 25 per cent. on incomes exceeding $100,000.

No increase in personal tax exemptions.

The Frear Amendment Rejected Proposed:

Cutting normal rates in half with surtaxes continuing at their present level.

No change in exemptions.

The Madden amendment voted down differed from the Mellon schedule in the maximum surtax rate which it sought to have fixed at 25 per cent.

STATE COLLEGE BANS AUTOS OF STUDENTS

State College, Pa., Feb. 20.—A ruling announced today by the Council of Administration of the Pennsylvania State College compels student automobile owners to dispose of cars before April 20. Special permits are allowed where it is found that cars are a necessity to students' attendance at the college.

It is estimated that about 100 of the 3,300 students are car owners or have cars here belonging to their parents.

FEAR NEWPORT MEN WENT DOWN IN BOAT

Newport, R. I., Feb. 20.—It seems almost certain that Richard Welch of No. 2 West Howard street and Daniel Shea of No. 9 Hammond street, two young men who started out in the launch Twentieth Century, have perished at sea. Reports from "Rum Row" say that the two men arrived there at about 5 o'clock on the night in question, took on a load and made a lively get away. Since that time they have not been heard from.

RECONCILED HUSBAND GETS WIFE FREED

Harry Pion Starts Home With Spouse Arrested With "Other" Man

Southbridge, Feb. 20.—A trail that led him through Bridgeport, Ct., the Bronx in New York, then to Fort Lee, N. J., and finally to Easton, Pa., in pursuit of Mrs. Pion and Alfred Smith of Southbridge, was retraced today by Harry Pion, also of Southbridge, after a reconciliation with his wife.

Some time ago Smith and Mrs. Pion disappeared simultaneously. Pion traced them to a rooming house in Easton, Pa., where they were alleged to have been living as man and wife.

The couple were arrested and arraigned. In default of $200 bail they were jailed. Then Pion proceeded to get his wife out of the scrape again. He had the charge against her nol prossed and today he started home with her.

Smith still is in jail.

MADMAN KILLS THREE AND SELF IN PHILO, ILL.

Danville, Ill., Feb. 20.—Bullets fired by a man, crazed with the spirit of revenge, ended three lives today, and another shot, self-inflicted, sealed the tragedy, in a little home at Philo, near here. A pedestrian stumbled over the bodies.

The slayer, police believe, was Louis Kuntz, butcher, of Homer, whose body was found just outside the house. His victims were: Joseph Whistle, his brother-in-law; Mrs. Whistle, his sister, and Edna Whistle, his niece. Trouble between Russell Kuntz, son of Louis and his cousin Luella, the 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wissel, was thought today to be the cause of the shooting.

GIRL VICTIM OF OPERATION FROM HUB?

Clothes of "Josephine Fox," Dead in Baltimore Hospital, Has Boston Labels

Baltimore, Feb. 20 (I.N.S.).—Police officials were puzzled today over the identification of the girl known as Josephine Fox, twenty-three, who was brought dead to University Hospital here following an operation, for which three persons are held on a charge of manslaughter.

Clothing of the dead girl bore Paterson, N. J., and Boston labels, and police first were confident she came from the former place.

Some doubt arose, however, whether her name was Fox, the name under which she worked here in a theatre. Initials on a bracelet she wore do not correspond to the name.

New Orleans—Democrats apparently selected Henry L. Fuqua as Governor in the run-off primary.

ECK'S NEAR-BEER GOT TOO "NEAR"; IS FINED

Carl Eck's beer was near enough at the beginning—but what a difference a few days make!

Eck's establishment at No. 124 West Canton street, South End, was raided and Sergeant Hanrahan and his men seized twenty-one cases of beverage. Analysis at the State House showed the alcoholic content within the legal limit.

A second analysis in a few days, however, showed an alcoholic content of more than 4 per cent.

Attorney William J. Foley, counsel for Eck, argued that the first analysis should go, but Judge Dowd fined Eck $50. He appealed.

Achievement

One hundred years ago an English bricklayer invented a new building material. He called it portland cement. Today the whole world is using it, in the form of Concrete, to "build for permanence."

Think of the giant achievements of this all-important material—especially within the last twenty years.

Under the hurrying feet of multitudes, under the pounding tread of traffic, in teeming marts, and on countless farms, it is solidly serving the basic needs of our modern civilization.

Travel north from the great Galveston Sea Wall to the towering grain elevators of Minnesota. Travel west from the subways and skyscrapers of New York to the huge docks of the Pacific. Throughout the land you will see the monuments to permanence reared by Concrete.

You will see Concrete bridges, viaducts, dams, silos, manufacturing plants and office buildings.

You will see firesafe Concrete hospitals, schools, theaters, hotels, apartment buildings and homes.

You will see also a steadily increasing system of Concrete streets and roads, linking more closely together towns, cities and rural districts.

In considering these achievements of Concrete, the Cement Industry recognizes deep indebtedness to architects, engineers, builders and contractors.

The Industry recognizes also that its usefulness will continue to be measured by the value of the service it renders to those who use Concrete or have it used for them.

In this spirit, eighty-five separate cement manufacturing companies in the United States, Canada, Mexico, Cuba and South America maintain this association to improve and extend the uses of Concrete.

BETRAYED TO POLICE BY TITIAN HAIR

GIRL, 24, HELD FOR USING BAD CHECK

Titian-Haired Beauty Denies Knowing It Was Worthless

Special Officer Joe Di Sessa of the East Dedham street station was riding along Tremont street on the rear end of a trolley car when a striking looking young woman in a sealskin coat attracted his attention.

The girl, whose Titian hair brightened a somewhat gloomy day, was entering a South End shop when Di Sessa induced the conductor to ring an emergency signal and the trolley car stopped in the middle of the block.

The special officer's guess proved to be a good one. The girl with the Titian hair was Ruth Andrews, twenty-four years old, whom Station 5 has been looking for ever since November 3 on the charge of passing [illegible] $50 at [illegible] No. 6 [illegible] street.

Ruth formerly lived at No. 21 West Springfield street, but left the rooming house [illegible] three weeks ago to move to [illegible] hotel in the Back Bay. According to the police she was [illegible] an artist's model in New York and has been known as Ruth Cox.

If the $50 [illegible] was bad, the girl [illegible] she had no knowledge of that fact.

2 PASTORS NAMED IN DIVORCE

Leland Loses Suit as Judge Throws It Out of Court as "Town Scandal"

Chicago, Feb. 20 (Universal)—Albert R. Leland was denied a divorce from his wife, Charlotte, whose confessions of intimacy with the Rev. Dr. Carl Case, her pastor, had led to the filing of the sensational suit. The case was thrown out of court by Judge Charles M. Foell.

The decision came after the Rev. Mr. Case, pastor of the fashionable Oak Park Baptist Church, of which Leland was a deacon, again took the stand to refute testimony that he had once before been named in a similar action.

The new accuser [illegible] was Durward C. Adams [illegible] Case's college chum, the Rev. [illegible] Adams of Mt. Vernon, N. Y. [illegible] of young Adams was [illegible] prise.

NAMES FIVE MEN.

His mother and his father, Adams said, were divorced, his father having been granted a decree following his mother's confession that she had been indiscreet with five men, whom she named.

"Were any of them ministers of the gospel?" William Moss, attorney for Mrs. Leland, asked.

"Yes, two of them," said Adams.

"Do you recognize one of them here?" queried the attorney again.

"Yes, Dr. Case," came the reply.

The Rev. Dr. Case was recalled. He explained his trip to Buffalo, to New York and to Brooklyn [illegible] The Rev. Mr. Case [illegible] was pastor of Baptist [illegible] Brooklyn and Buffalo. Attorney Moss [illegible] sought [illegible] Rev. Mr. Case had [illegible] his former parishioners to keep the circumstances of his departure from those charges out of the Leland suit.

DEMANDED $2,500.

Attorneys for the defense then placed the Rev. Clarence Frank, pastor of a Baptist church at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., on the stand. He was formerly an assistant to the Rev. Mr. Case.

"Did the Rev. Mr. Case ever show you a letter signed by Dr. Adams demanding $2,500?" asked the attorney.

The minister replied in the affirmative and said:

"The letter said Dr. Case had been intimate with Mrs. Adams and that Dr. Adams demanded $2,500 to keep the matter quiet."

"I am disgusted with this case," said Judge Foell. "It has gotten to be a town scandal and nothing else. You have not stuck to the issue.

"For want of equity I shall have to throw the case out of court."

BOLSHEVISM SAFER EVIL, SAYS McADOO

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 20 (AP).—Betrayal of trust by high government officials presents a greater menace to democracy than Bolshevism or any other of the alleged evil influences, William G. McAdoo, candidate for the Democratic nomination for President, declared in an address on the train platform at the union station today.

"There can be no government with corruption in high places," McAdoo said. "This is a question of the life of the American nation. We must bring honesty back to government."

DR. FRANK CRANE ON WHERE DEMOCRACY SHOULD START

By Dr. Frank Crane

DEMOCRACY is not natural. It is acquired, the product of intelligence, the development of team-play. It is co-operation, which is a very late product of evolution. Savages, untutored primitives, cannot possibly grasp it. Wild Indians, native African tribes, primeval Fijis, as well as the ancient forefathers of every race on earth, all had kings, caste, commons and high mightinesses. The natural state of mankind is competition, conflict, class hate.

When capitalists and labor unions organize to fight they are only doing what their ancestors did a thousand years ago in the bogs of Denmark or the forests of Saxony.

The only place this primal function of ignorance in wasteful discord can be overcome is in the schoolroom. Getting together has to be learned. Contention comes by nature. Just as the sense of the common welfare, of respect for law, of self-restraint and keeping step have to be learned.

By all means get together. But you cannot get together at the convention in Atlantic City, nor in Judge Gary's board of directors, nor in Samuel Gompers' executive committee of the American Labor Federation. You could not get together when the President called you to meet at Washington.

If you really want Democracy and hearty co-operation, you can make it maybe in a generation, but you will have to begin with the babies, keep every boy and girl in a common school (accent on the common) till they are of age and teach them.

For democracy is not made in conventions, but in school houses.

More education and more democratic education is our great national need," writes Dallas Lore Sharp in his book, "Patrons of Democracy." "Governments are not safe in the hands of any single class—a democracy of all governments, the least safe. There is but one thing to do—give us more education, which, in the United States, means an education to the end of the high school for every citizen, even though compelled by law. Education is a class leveler. Though not by any means a cure for the inequalities of life, education comes nearer than any other thing to being the lowest common denominator to the 'vulgar fractions' of society that we call classes."

There is but one overtopping question; it is education.

There is but one place where the wild theories of half-baked enthusiasts can be corrected; it is the schoolroom.

This nation needs to rouse itself to the vital importance of this matter; to examine and reconstruct its system of education; to teach foremost of all and all the time those principles of democracy which we are too much inclined to take for granted.

For every dollar invested in our public schools we should invest ten; for every dollar paid in salaries we should pay ten; for every teacher now employed we should have ten.

For a democracy without intelligence and team-play is doomed.

It Seems Pitiful to This Day

Copyright, 1924, Star Co.

New York City has just danced its way through the Charity Ball, as it has done every year since 1856. Somebody led the grand march, somebody stepped on somebody else's dress and a nursery and child's hospital got some money.

New York City's big ball reminds you of the change in American standards of living. "Rich aristocrats," as they would have called themselves, started the Patriarchs' Ball in New York long ago, because individually they could not compete with August Belmont's great extravagance in living and entertaining. August Belmont, first of that family in New York, could spend as much as eighty thousand dollars in one single year.

There are many men today who spend more than that on a stable or garage, three times as much on a yacht, and perhaps five times as much on some ambitious young lady of the chorus. Things change.

Did Belgium Save Us?

Senator LaFontane of Belgium, who won the Nobel Peace Prize, says: "It cannot be denied that Belgium fought for America, and that we saved her. We are entitled to effective help from her. Our government should have courage to tell this to the American people."

American people admired the brave fight that Belgium made and were glad to help feed the Belgian children. This nation did not, however, understand that Belgium had SAVED US FROM GERMANY.

And if Belgium, which could be lost in a little corner of Texas, was able to hold back the Germans, what does Senator LaFontane think the United States would have done to Germany, especially if that nation had come meandering three thousand miles across the ocean to get us? There ought to be a limit to Europe's foolish imaginings.

2 Stowaways Cost Ship Sugar Worth $40,000

Philadelphia, Feb. 20.—Stowaways at $40,000 each are pretty expensive, and Captain Weiner of the Danish steamship Fort Myers wants no more of them. It cost him that much in an attempt to get rid of one that boarded his vessel at Caibarien, Cuba.

When the stowaway was found on board Captain Weiner put about and landed him. When a second was discovered he endeavored to duplicate his performance, but the ship went aground.

The captain was forced to jettison 2,600 bags of sugar valued at $40,000, after which he continued his voyage bringing the stowaway with him rather than put back again.

COOLIDGE WILL VETO TAX CUT MEASURE

Will Turn Down Garner Substitute for Mellon Plan if It Passes Senate

Washington, Feb. 20.—Stock dividend profits would be made subject to regular income rates rather than the capital asset tax of 12½ per cent, under an amendment to the revenue bill adopted today by the house.

Washington, Feb. 20 (I N S).—The threat that President Coolidge will veto the Democratic tax reduction rates that are now written into the new revenue bill in place of the Mellon schedules was definitely projected today into the congressional tax fight.

The sharp defeat of the Mellon program by a coalition of Democrats and Progressive Insurgents was a distinct shock to the White House, despite the fact that it has long been apparent to unprejudiced observers at the Capitol that the Mellon bill would not be passed as written, with its maximum surtax of 25 per cent.

Pres. Coolidge   Sec Mellon

The President feels very deeply about the situation, it was said today. The White House was in direct touch with the Capitol during the balloting yesterday, and it was regarded as significant today that the close friends and confidants of the President were openly predicting that he would never approve the Garner reduction rates, with their maximum surtax of 44 per cent.

A White House official, who usually speaks for the President, said:

"The President will not recede one inch from his previously stated position. The Garner plan is fundamentally unsound. Its enactment would wipe out the $300,000,000 surplus now existing in the Treasury and would in fact create a $300,000,000 deficit.

"The President would be more than derelict in his duty if he allowed a measure to become law that would take $600,000,000 out of the public pocket. The present $300,000,000 surplus has been carefully nursed into existence by the Harding and Coolidge administrations through a long series of rigid economies."

FAMOUS MUSEUM IN NAPLES UNSAFE

Naples, Feb. 20.—The National Museum building here, containing some of the most valuable art treasures in the world, has been discovered to be unsafe in some sections. Two pillars of the portico leading to the Sixteenth Century courtyard have collapsed and the collection of ancient Greek sculpture within, endangered by the failure of the supports, has been hastily removed.

Here Are Tax Cuts Proposed in Rival Measures

Washington, Feb. 20.—The Democratic income tax substitute adopted by the House provides:

Normal taxes of 2 per cent. on incomes below $5,000; 4 per cent on incomes between $5,000 and $8,000; 6 per cent. on incomes exceeding $8,000.

A graduated surtax scale beginning at 1 per cent. on incomes between $12,000 and $14,000 up to a maximum of 44 per cent. on incomes exceeding $92,000.

Exemptions of $2,000 for single persons and $3,000 for heads of families.

Existing Law Provides:

Normal taxes of 4 per cent. on incomes up to $4,000 and 8 per cent. above $8,000.

Surtaxes beginning at 1 per cent. on incomes between $6,000 and $10,000 and graduating progressively to 50 per cent. on incomes in excess of $200,000.

Exemption of $1,000 for single persons and $2,500 for heads of families.

The Mellon Provision Eliminated Proposed:

Normal rates of 3 per cent. on incomes up to $4,000 and 6 per cent. on incomes exceeding $4,000.

Surtaxes ranging from 1 per cent. on incomes between $10,000 and $12,000 to 25 per cent. on incomes exceeding $100,000.

No increase in personal tax exemptions.

The Frear Amendment Rejected Proposed:

Cutting normal rates in half with surtaxes continuing at their present level.

No change in exemptions.

The Madden amendment voted down differed from the Mellon schedule in the maximum surtax rate which it sought to have fixed at 25 per cent.

STATE COLLEGE BANS AUTOS OF STUDENTS

State College, Pa., Feb. 20.—A ruling announced today by the Council of Administration of the Pennsylvania State College compels student automobile owners to dispose of cars before April 20. It is estimated that about 100 of the 3,300 students are car owners or have cars here belonging to their parents.

Newport, R. I., Feb. 20.—It seems almost certain that Richard Welch of No. 2 West Howard street and Daniel Shea of No. 9 Hammond street, two young men who started out in the launch Twentieth Century, have perished at sea. Reports from "Rum Row" say that the two men arrived there at about 5 o'clock on the night in question, took on a load and made a lively get away. Since that time they have not been heard from.

RECONCILED HUSBAND GETS WIFE FREED

Harry Pion Starts Home With Spouse Arrested With "Other" Man

Southbridge, Feb. 20.—A trail that led him through Bridgeport, Ct., the Bronx in New York, then to Fort Lee, N. J., and finally to Easton, Pa., in pursuit of Mrs. Pion and Alfred Smith of Southbridge, was retraced today by Harry Pion, also of Southbridge, after a reconciliation with his wife.

Some time ago Smith and Mrs. Pion disappeared simultaneously. Pion traced them to a rooming house in Easton, Pa., where they were alleged to have been living as man and wife.

The couple were arrested and arraigned. In default of $200 bail they were jailed. Then Pion proceeded to get his wife out of the scrape again. He had the charge against her nol prossed and today he started home with her.

Smith still is in jail.

MADMAN KILLS THREE AND SELF IN PHILO, ILL.

Danville, Ill., Feb. 20.—Bullets fired by a man, crazed with the spirit of revenge, ended three lives today, and another shot, self-inflicted, sealed the tragedy, in a little home at Philo, near here. A pedestrian stumbled over the bodies.

The slayer, police believe, was Louis Kuntz, butcher, of Homer, whose body was found just outside the house. His victims were: Joseph Whistle, his brother-in-law, Mrs. Whistle, his sister, and Edna Whistle, his niece. Trouble between Russell Kuntz, son of Louis and his cousin Luella, the 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wissel, was thought today to be the cause of the shooting.

GIRL VICTIM OF OPERATION FROM HUB?

Clothes of "Josephine Fox," Dead in Baltimore Hospital, Has Boston Labels

Baltimore, Feb. 20 (I N S).—Police officials were puzzled today over the identification of the girl known as Josephine Fox, twenty-three, who was brought dead to University Hospital here following an operation, for which three persons are held on a charge of manslaughter.

Clothing of the dead girl bore Paterson, N. J., and Boston labels, and police first were confident she came from the former place.

Some doubt arose, however, whether her name was Fox, the name under which she worked here in a theatre. Initials on a bracelet she wore do not correspond to the name.

New Orleans—Democrats apparently selected Henry L. Fuqua as Governor in the run off primary.

ECK'S NEAR-BEER GOT TOO "NEAR"; IS FINED

Carl Eck's beer was near enough at the beginning—but what a difference a few days make!

Eck's establishment at No. 124 West Canton street, South End, was raided and Sergeant Hanrahan and his men seized twenty-one cases of beverage. Analysis at the State House showed the alcoholic content within the legal limit.

A second analysis in a few days, however, showed an alcoholic content of more than 4 per cent.

Attorney William J. Foley, counsel for Eck, argued that the first analysis should go, but Judge Dowd fined Eck $50. He appealed.

Think of the giant achievements of this all-important material—especially within the last twenty years.

Under the hurrying feet of multitudes, under the pounding tread of traffic, in teeming marts, and on countless farms, it is solidly serving the basic needs of our modern civilization.

Travel north from the great Galveston Sea Wall to the towering grain elevators of Minnesota. Travel west from the subways and skyscrapers of New York to the huge docks of the Pacific. Throughout the land you will see the monuments to permanence reared by Concrete.

In considering these achievements of Concrete, the Cement Industry recognizes deep indebtedness to architects, engineers, builders and contractors.

The Industry recognizes also that its usefulness will continue to be measured by the value of the service it renders to those who use Concrete or have it used for them.

In this spirit, eighty-five separate cement manufacturing companies in the United States, Canada, Mexico, Cuba and South America maintain this association to improve and extend the uses of Concrete.

MISS MELLON LAUGHS AT ATTACKS ON FATHER IN HOUSE DEBATE

SMILES, DOUBLES 'FISTS,' THEN MERRY AGAIN

Washington, Feb 20 (Universal).--Miss Ailsa Mellon, only daughter and heiress of Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon, second richest man in the world, sat in the executive gallery of the House of Representatives for several hours and heard her father assailed by Democrats and insurgent Republicans in debate on the Mellon tax-reduction bill.

She was present, too, when the House rejected her father's taxation plan.

Miss Mellon apparently enjoyed the experience, and with fine sportsmanship, laughed most when the shots at her father were the hottest.

DIDN'T KNOW FREAR.

At one point, when Representative Garner, Democratic tax leader, had concluded a speech [illegible] devoted to attacking Secretary Mellon and Representative Frear, insurgent Progressive tax captain, took the floor and continued the offensive. Miss Mellon left her seat in the front row and went to ask the doorkeeper the name of the latter speaker.

The aged doorkeeper who kept her waiting for a moment while he fumbled in his pocket for the key to [illegible] her out—the President's gallery kept locked [illegible] is not there—was unable to supply the information so she turned to a young man [illegible] executive [illegible] informed [illegible] identity of [illegible] speaker.

Across from the executive gallery, Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth, wife of [illegible] interested [illegible] of the [illegible] a little.

IN SABLE ROBE.

Miss Mellon wore a luxurious long sable coat, with a closely fitting brown hat, biege strapped pumps, flesh-colored stockings and a one-piece brown silk dress with white [illegible] collar and cuffs.

At first the Treasury chief's daughter sat back in her seat, but at the mention of her father by name she leaned forward, her elbows on the railing and her chin cupped in her hands, listening intently. As the attacks waxed a trifle sharp she was observed to double up her fists under her chin.

She laughed outright when Gerner shouted that "Andy Mellon was not known, except in the high finance of Pittsburgh, when the original income tax law was written.

Merida, Yucatan, Feb. 20 (A.P.).—More than 200 Federals were killed and many were wounded and taken prisoner in a clash with the revolutionists at Curva de la Muerte, in which the latter were victorious, O[illegible] Gonzalez, publicity director for the De la Huerta organization, announced here.

Because of his success in this engagement and for former achievements the supreme command has [illegible] General Jose C. Morin from the grade of brigadier general [illegible] division commander.

PORK PACKERS PAINT PRETTY PICTURE

They See Themselves Playing Star Roles as Philanthropists

New York, Feb. 20.—Big packers were characterized as "involuntary philanthropists" by Howard R. Smith, president of the Schaeffer, Smith Packing Company of Baltimore, during his testimony today at a hearing to determine whether the merger of Armour & Co. and Morris & Co. created a monopoly or lessened competition in the meat packing industry.

Mr. Smith furnished illustrations of what he called "philanthropic activities" of the big packers. He said these consist mainly in [illegible] the [illegible] market, thereby keeping it normal and fair.

Last Monday, he said, the Chicago market was "glutted" with 9[illegible] hogs. Of these 45,000 were in excess of the regular demands. The smaller packers could not buy them. The big packers, however, having the money and the facilities, stepped in and bought up the entire market at prevailing prices.

These hogs, the witness said, will be held over for a slack period in cold storage and he felt certain that if the smaller packers subsequently need [illegible] they will have no trouble buying them at a fair price.

FILENE URGES EDUCATION IN THRIFT

Also Tells Credit Men of Need for Elimination of Usury

"There is a broad national need for both thrift promotion and elimination of usury and an increasing development of credit unions will effectively meet this problem," said Edward A. Filene, addressing members of Massachusetts Credit Union Association.

Nearly 50,000 credit union members in this State save an average of [illegible] cents a week, according to Mr. Filene, who also stated that during the difficult period following the war no credit unions in Massachusetts have been involuntarily liquidated.

"The credit unions of this State now have assets of $6,250,000," he added.

"Credit unions not only promote thrift through a system of saving [illegible] but they create credit resources [illegible] low rate of interest for those who are without normal credit facilities.

In Massachusetts the licensed money lenders may charge 36 per cent on small loans; in 15 States the rate authorized by law is 42 per cent, and in fact, the rates actually charged in States where there is no regulation are so large that 42 per cent look small by comparison. The credit unions serve this field, creating for wage workers credit at bank rates.

"Credit unions are strictly co-operative organizations and the only one who benefits is the member of it, except as the community and State benefit because the credit union makes for better citizenship, not only by promoting thrift and eliminating usury, but by serving as a great Americanization process."

SMITH CALLS CONFAB ON DRY ENFORCEMENT

Albany, Feb. 20.—Several score municipal officials and law enforcement officers of New York State will be here tonight for a prohibition conference called by Governor Smith at the request of Federal Prohibition Director Palmer Canfield.

The Governor has hinted he probably will place some of the responsibility for enforcement of prohibition laws upon officials of at least four counties along the Canadian border. He also, it has been indicated, will tell precisely what part he expects the State police to take in such enforcement. Among others who have arrived for the conference are "Izzy" Einstein and Moe Smith, prohibition agents.

BIG BOURNE ESTATE ACCOUNTING STANDS

Iverhead, N. Y., Feb. 20.—Findings of Surrogate Pelletreau on an accounting of the $40,000,000 estate of Frederick G. Bourne, former president of the Singer Sewing Machine, have been affirmed by the Court of Appeals.

Mrs. Ralph B. Strassburger of Gwynedd Valley, Pa., and Marjorie Bourne of New York, daughters of the testator, had filed objection to an accounting made by their brother, Arthur K. Burne, and George Vail, an attorney, alleging fraud. Surrogate Pelletreau dismissed the objections.

FLAYS 'THE DIGEST' TAX REFERENDUM

Washington, Feb. 20.—A charge that the Literary Digest is spending at least $400,000 to "influence Congress" in favor of the Mellon tax plan, was made today in the Senate by Senator Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi. In its referendum on the subject, he said, the magazine had outlined only the Mellon plan, making no mention of any other.

FRENCH ACCEPT REPARATIONS SOLUTION

Plan Worked Out by Experts' Commission, However, Kept Secret Until Next Week

Paris, Feb. 20 (I. N. S.).—The French government, as represented by Premier Raymond Poincare today accepted in principle the reparations solution worked out by the two committees of international experts appointed by the Inter-Allied Reparations Commission.

The program of the two committees has not been made public, but probably will be next week. It will be discussed by the committees Saturday.

Premier Poincare held a conference with the Ministers of War, Public Works, and Liberated Regions, when a provisional report from the committee was discussed. It was at this conference the Premier decided to accept in principle the solution drawn up for relief of Germany.

French Oppose Giving Up Hold on Ruhr Roads

Paris, Feb. 20 (A.P.).—The French high military command opposes the abandonment of the Ruhr railroads to Germany as is provided for in the plan of the expert committees. The French believe military occupation cannot continue with security unless the Franco-Belgian civilian control of communications is maintained.

Military authorities say German railway men who transported French and Belgian troops, munitions and supplies freely would not do so again and that to turn back the railways into German hands would make it impossible to easily resume a military grip.

It is understood the French government sees no objection, under given economic conditions, to the withdrawal of their civilian administration of the customs and coal tax, supervision of the mines and every other form of supervision, but not of the Franco-Belgian railway control, which has been set up in the face of many obstacles and after much thought, energy, engineering talent and expense.

Counter-proposals have been made that the French and Belgians shall remain in active co-operation with the German railway forces, and that international control of the Ruhr railways be instituted, in which the United States would have an equal share with the allied and German governments.

BRITAIN MOVES TO KEEP U. S. MAIL GOING

Postmaster-General Hartshorn Says Necessary Steps Are Being Taken

London, Feb. 20 (A.P.).—Postmaster-General Hartshorn announced in the House of Commons today that the government was taking the necessary steps to insure smooth working of the postal service and the removal of American mails without delay.

There is increasing indignation in the Anglo-American business community over the holding up of 5,000 bags of mail from the United States at Plymouth, resulting in the American consulate being beseiged by protests at the delay and inquiries regarding what is to be done.

Business men believe they are losing thousands of pounds in orders from America, and this seems verified in part by the material drop in consulate invoices to America, which normally average 250 daily.

A feature of the situation today was the [illegible] of four motor lorries driven by [illegible] the Royal Albert docks. The strike pickets allowed the lorries to enter, but they emerged empty two hours later and it was learned that the clerks and other employes on the docks had declined to load the vehicles.

At Manchester fifty vessels are held up by the strike and the usual heavy traffic in cotton goods between Manchester and various ports has been stopped.

Glasgow shipping is seriously dislocated. The sailing of the liner Marloch for Canada, scheduled for Friday, has been cancelled and the 250 passengers sent to Liverpool to board the Malagama.

Southampton, Feb. 20.—The White Star liner Olympic sailed today on scheduled time carrying 1,000 passengers, including Sir Esme Howard, the new British Ambassador to the United States. The liner also carries 6,000 bags of mail.

The mail and the passengers' luggage were loaded during the night by clerks substituting for the striking stevedores.

ASSERTS PALESTINE IS GOING CONCERN

London, Feb. 20.—The Labor government took over Great Britain's responsibilities in Palestine as a going concern, Prime Minister MacDonald told a questioner in the House of Commons today. Palestine had cost the British exchequer 1,400,000 pounds sterling in 1923-24, he said, and it was estimated the cost would be 1,000,000 pounds in 1924-25.

PARENTS SLAIN; BOY OF 18 IS ARRESTED

Florida Youth Says He Found Victims Dead After He Was Felled

St. Petersburg, Fla., Feb. 20.—Frank McDowel, eighteen, was arrested by the police today after the finding of his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. McDowel, shot through the heads at their home here. His parents had been shot as they lay in bed.

Young McDowel, who called the police, said that he had been struck on the head and rendered unconscious. When he regained himself he said, he found his parents dead. The police say they found a pistol which the youth admitted was his property, and that he told conflicting stories.

The police add that McDowel related how his two sisters had been burned to death at their home in a Georgia town a year ago, the mattress on which they were sleeping having been saturated with kerosene and then fired.

Decatur, Ga., Feb. 20.—Marion, aged eighteen years, and Winnie Mae, sixteen years of age, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. McDowel, who were shot and killed in St. Petersburg, Fla., were burned to death here about one year ago when they were trapped in a room in the McDowel home.

The blaze has always been a mystery. Fire officials stated at the time that gasoline was thrown through the open window into the girls' bedroom and ignited. Their charred bodies were found in the bed.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel, but let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "logy" and heavy. They "clear" clouded brain and "perk up" the spirits. 15c and 30c.

MARION DAVIES IN "LITTLE OLD NEW YORK"

OVERTURE FOR 'OLD NEW YORK' BY HERBERT

For thirty years, Victor Herbert, the famous composer, carried in his mind a melody that he was determined to develop into an important musical work. It was a strange, haunting rhythm that had come down from his Gaelic ancestors through centuries.

There was a wail of grief in it, a thrill of defence, a note of triumph—an odd melody, truly, even for Gaelic—Victor Herbert said—as he told how he had finally traced it back to its origin and developed it into a splendid symphonic poem.

OLD IRISH COOLIN.

"It was the old Irish Coolin," he explained. "The symphonic poem I've made from it may be heard in 'Little Old New York,' in which Marion Davies is appearing at the Park Theatre.

"The Coolin was the music of a [illegible] that was sung in Ireland hundreds of years ago when Irishmen were ordered to cut short their hair. They were immensely proud of their flowing locks in those days. Indeed, the men of that time were prouder of their hair than the women of today are of their own.

"It was a racial custom to wear it long, and racial customs are rooted deep in Ireland. The men rebelled against the order. There were mighty disturbances. Some finally obeyed, others went to jail for refusing and went to the scaffold and died in the noose rather than cut their hair under compulsion.

IDEAL THEME.

"The Coolin was the song that was sung during that troubled time. As long as I've remembered the melody and learned the history of it, I've wanted to make a proper musical piece of it. Until now there has been no setting for it, but now it is the ideal theme for 'Little Old New York.'

"For the story begins in Ireland, really, when Miss Davies as Patricia O'Day, fights eviction. Then she comes to America and to pose as her brother is compelled to cut off her hair, virtually under compulsion.

"There's the note of grief in the symphonic poem. Then death strikes the little family, so I've included the heart-piercing wail of the banshee, the keening over the dead, then to the triumphant conclusion."

Of all composers Mr. Herbert was best fitted for the making of the symphonic poem, being born in Ireland, a grandson of Samuel Lover, he is steeped in Gaelic tradition.

READ WHAT THE NEIGHBORS SAY

MAYOR CURLEY OF BOSTON, says:
The historical value of this production is such that the interests of the community would be well served by an extension of the Boston run. Crowds are clamoring for admission and will be denied the privilege unless the present plans are altered.

MAYOR QUINN OF CAMBRIDGE, says:
Mayor Curley is doing a service to many thousands of people of greater Boston in interceding for an extension of your engagement.

MAYOR SWEENEY OF ATTLEBORO, says:
It is one of the most interesting as well as one of the most instructive pictures I have ever witnessed. Both from a historical and educational standpoint this picture should be seen by everyone, both old and young.

MAYOR McPHETRES OF LYNN, says:
I wish your picture the best of success.

MAYOR PEARSON OF GARDNER, says:
"Little Old New York" is reported in glowing terms.

MAYOR WEBSTER OF SOMERVILLE, says:
I trust that "Little Old New York's" success continues.

MAYOR BEAN OF WOBURN, says:
It is distinctly worth while—vivid, wholesome, instructive. Marion Davies is convincing, whether impersonating a boy or a girl and her supporting company is excellent. Highly instructive.

MAYOR CASHMAN OF NEWBURYPORT, says:
In my opinion you have offered to the theatregoing public a wonderful opportunity to view one of the greatest photoplays in extending your engagement in conformity with Mayor Curley's wishes. It not only refreshes our memory historically but also reveals the opportunities America offered its newcomer even at that early date. The romance throughout is clean and wholesome. I wish to thank you for making it possible to witness this great event drama.

MAYOR O'HARA OF WORCESTER, says:
Best wishes for the continued success of your performance.

THE BIGGEST SURPRISE BOSTON HAS EVER HAD

U. S. Steel Leads Recovery in Stock Market After Initial Wave of Selling

FORBES' VIEWS ON FINANCE

—By B. C. Forbes—

In the South, Feb. 20.—Civilization is based on transportation, they say.

Do you know which American city has as its slogan, "Where seventeen trunk lines meet the sea"? Nature did not make the sea meet these trunk lines—commercially speaking. Man did. The men of Houston did.

It is one of the most inspiring achievements I've seen on this tour.

* * *

[illegible] explored shallow channels from the Gulf of Mexico up towards Houston in the thirties and both government and people have long dreamed of making a real water highway from Sam Houston's city to the sea.

But it was the men of the present generation who took hold of the enterprise in earnest, offered to match dollar for dollar of the Federal government's expenditures, and finally succeeded in bringing ships and seagulls to Houston—and the citizens are almost as proud of the seagulls that now attach themselves to the city's harbor as they are of the big ships that steam up to the channel to unload and load cargoes for the four quarters of the globe.

* * *

Incidentally, the fine spirit exhibited by Houston when it volunteered to bear half the cost of the waterway, has saved you and me and other taxpayers many millions of dollars, for Congress now makes a habit of demanding of seekers of public funds "are you prepared to follow the Houston plan?" If local communities have not enough faith to do this, their requests for public funds stand a poor chance of being complied with.

Houston, we thank you.

* * *

What has this transportation of Houston into an excellently-equipped port meant?

It has brought the city into direct water contact with all the rapidly-developing water facilities fructifying the vast Mississippi Valley, the Gulf canals and ports and the water routes of the world.

E. A. Pedan, the indefatigable and brainy chairman of the Port Commission, and one of the South's most useful citizens, remarks with justifiable satisfaction that more than a thousand ships have entered and left the port in one year, that a million bales of cotton have been shipped from Houston this season in contrast with less than 50,000 bales in 1919. That more than thirty lines of steamships now make regular sailings from the port to all parts of the world, that over $100,000,000 capital has been invested in industrial plants and the like along the channel with a daily payroll of $40,000 and that this is only a start.

A trip down twenty miles of this thirty-two-mile waterway revealed a bewildering number of important establishments along its banks. Oil refineries met the eye at every turn—Texas Company, Crown Oil, Sinclair, Simms, Galena, American Peroleum, Mogul, Humble, etc.

Then there were Armour fertilizer works, Texas Portland Cement, a new $10,000,000 plant for the Houston Light & Power Company, and, perhaps, most impressive of all, a gigantic wharf, storage, compressing and other facilities for handling cotton, all the creation of the Anderson Clayton Cotton Company, whose operations are of colossal magnitude. A Southern banker remarked to me, "Will Clayton is, in my opinion, not only the ablest cotton man in the country, but about the biggest all-around man I know."

* * *

Here are a few new building projects: Galena and Sinclair and Humble Oil plan extensions and water front improvements costing $10,000,000, Houston Light & Power plan, $10,000,000; Navigation District Terminal additions, Cotton Exchange Building, $1,000,000; Anderson-Clayton Water front improvements, $1,100,000. Southwestern Telephone Company, $1,000,000; First National Bank Building, $1,000,000; chemical laboratory at Rice Institute, $1,000,000; and a host of other big undertakings.

* * *

Houston is a city of superior homes for the working classes, excellent churches, and, perhaps most notable of all, of extraordinary fine educational facilities.

* * *

Is it any wonder that the telephone company and other estimators, calculate that Houston, now a city of about 225,000, will have a population of 500,000 by [illegible]?

* * *

Both the city and its people appealed strongly to me.

TRADING DULL WHEN SUPPORT APPEARS

U. S. Steel led the recovery in the New York stock market after an initial wave of selling had exhausted itself. Steel was off over a point at the start, but recovered and showed a small gain in the afternoon.

The majority of issues showed an upward tendency, but trading was dull after support made its appearance.

There were point or better gains for Chesapeake & Ohio, Houston, Pullman, both Pan-Americans, Pacific Oil, Phillips, Pierce Oil, U. S. Cast Iron Pipe, du Pont, Iron Products, Woolworth, Liggett & Myers new stock and Nash Motors.

National Enameling dropped 2 points on the passing of its common dividend. A statement issued yesterday on this stock stated its net income in 1923 as $1,271,295 after taxes and charges, against $1,982,695 in 1922.

Heavy offerings forced Congoleum, National Enameling, National Lead and Corn Products down 1 to 2 points. Call money opened at 4½ per cent.

Fisher Body gained 2.

British Buying Sends Liberty Issue Upward

Price movements were irregular in the general bond list with, however, a slight upward tendency for speculative rails and sugar issues.

The rise of Liberty 4th 4¼s, which crossed par for the first time this year, was attributed to British buying, which, combined with the passage of the Garner tax plan, steadied the entire list after its recent reaction.

Large blocks of the New Japanese 6½s changed hands, first at the offering price of 92½, and then in fractionally higher ground.

The text of the reorganization plan of the Atlantic Fruit Company continued to give strength to its 7 per cent bonds, which advanced 2½ points.

Eastern Steamship Is Boston Market Feature

Eastern Steamship, up 4 at 52, before reacting, was a feature of trading on the Boston Stock Exchange. Mexican Investment was active, selling off a point, recovering and then lowering a point again. Boston & Albany was up 1½ at 150. Massachusetts Gas lifted a point.

Annual meeting of stockholders of New England Telephone was held today. Board of directors was re-elected with the exception that Charles T. Howard of Providence becomes a director in place of Colonel George L. Shepley of the same city who, on account of impaired health, finds it necessary to give up some of his former activities.

At a meeting of the directors, the usual quarterly dividend was declared and present officers of the company were re-elected.

Wall St. Gossip

FURTHER substantial increases in traffic earnings are shown by Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railroads for week ending Feb. 14.

ILLINOIS Northern Utilities for 1923 reports net income of $447,693 after taxes and charges, against $300,837 in 1922.

DETROIT, Toledo & Ironton Railroad has been authorized to issue $242,000 first mortgage 50-year 5 per cent. bonds, to be sold at not less than par.

NATIONAL Enameling has passed common dividend. In previous quarter $1 was paid.

CARNEGIE Steel will roll 7,000 tons of structural for Insurance Company of North America building.

WABASH has ordered 1,700 freight car.

ATCHISON, Burlington and Illinois Central are in the market for a substantial number of cars.

UNITED States Steel Corporation is operating at average of 94 per cent. capacity. Carnegie, biggest subsidiary, is running practically full.

MOTOR WHEEL Corporation earnings in 1923 per share for common, after preferred dividends, in excess of $2.50 a share, against $1.16 in 1922.

NEW YORK State Railways for 1923 reports net income of $923,391 after charges, tax and depreciation, against $771,253 in 1922.

U. S. REALTY debenture 5s, outstanding in amount of slightly under $2,000,000, will be paid off July 1 at par.

NEW ENGLAND SHOE OUTLOOK IS GOOD

Treasurer Merton R. Alden of the Joseph M. Herman Shoe Co., Millis, is optimistic on the New England shoe outlook. He informs the financial editor of the Boston American:

"The prospects for the first half of the year 1924 are optimistic. Our actual sales from Jan. 1 to date show about 15 per cent. increase in business over same period in 1923.

"It should not be forgotten that New England has a population of expert shoe-makers who make the best shoes that are produced in this country. The future of the New England shoe business depends largely in producing better shoes and obtaining a price which will enable us to pay high wages and at the same time develop a satisfactory and serviceable product.

"Manufacturers who keep a stock department enabling their dealers to size-in regularly, thus obviating losses incident to a sudden change in style, are doing more business than factories operating strictly on a made-to-order basis."

PULLMAN RAISES PAY FOR PORTERS

$341,600,368 Drop in Oil Stock Caused by Inquiry

Market values of twenty active common stocks of prominent American oil companies listed on the New York exchange have shrunk in the aggregate of $341,600,368 since the inauguration of the Senate inquiry into the oil scandal at Washington.

Since, in the meantime, underlying conditions in the oil industry have steadily improved, Wall street is disposed to lay this shrinkage in values directly at the door of the Senate inquiry.

EDISON COMPANY.

To M. R. Y.—Edison has a total installed generating capacity of 203,000 kilowatts, of which the Atlantic avenue station has 8,000 kilowatts and L street station 195,000 kilowatts.

Work is progressing on the new 60-acre North Weymouth plant, the initial installation of which will be 60,000 kilowatts, and the ultimate capacity 300,000 to 400,000 kilowatts. Already the company has invested in excess of $1,300,000 in this new addition to its property.

Company expects to spend $11,000,000 on the initial installation and $2,000,000 to $3,000,000 to connect it with the rest of the system before it commences operations late this year.

DURANT MOTORS.

To A. L. C.—Durant Motors, Inc., has won a place for itself in an industry where competition at present is particularly keen. Earnings have been satisfactory, but so far the stock has not been placed on a dividend basis and the purchaser would be speculating on the continued success of the venture and the possibility of dividends at some future time. Unless stock of this kind meets your requirements you should select securities that are more thoroughly seasoned.

PACKARD MOTOR.

To C. A.—Packard Motor Car Co. of New York, incorporated under the laws of New York, has filed with the Massachusetts Commissioner of Corporations a statement of its financial condition, dated Aug. 31, 1923, which compares:

PORTLAND CEMENT.

To D. L. T.—Portland cement is admittedly a basic necessity because of its extraordinary durability and low cost—only ½ cent per pound—and its uses have steadily multiplied. In 1880 the United States produced less than 100,000 barrels of cement; 20 years later 8,500,000 barrels. In 1920 the production had grown to 100,000,000 barrels, and this year a new record of 135,000,000 barrels should be hung up. The consumption for road building alone in 1923 is placed at 35,000,000 barrels.

ANACONDA.

To T. H. U.—Although price of copper was disappointingly low in 1923, Anaconda Copper Mining Company earned $3 dividend it paid in that period.

There is a degree of flexibility in Anaconda's Butte mining situation by which it can in periods of low-priced copper and unusual labor conditions concentrate operations at such properties as can show the most favorable costs.

Unlike some mining managements Anaconda is not "picking the eyes" out of its ore bodies, but merely concentrating operations upon its higher-grade properties, and it has many mines in the Butte camp.

WAYS TO EVADE BIG SURTAXES

Secretary Mellon, in a letter to the American Banker, lists some of the ways of evading higher surtaxes, and states that his tax plan contains provisions intended to prevent these evasions as far as practicable by legislation. Secretary Mellon says:

"As you point out in your letter there are important methods of evasion of high surtaxes besides investment in tax-exempt securities. The most important of these are the taking of paper losses, the use of corporations, the splitting up of property by gifts and the creation of trusts to avoid the high rates on large incomes.

"An attempt is made to prevent these methods of evasion so far as it is practicable to do so by legislation, by provisions inserted in the proposed new revenue bill. These features of tax revision being technical and of limited application, have naturally not attracted the attention which the tax-exempt security problem has, with its widespread implications.

"Of the argument that the public generally pays the income surtaxes indirectly, through rent and increased cost of the necessities of life, you will find full statement in the enclosures.

"There can be no doubt, however, that the diversion of capital from private enterprise to government expenditure, encouraged as it has been by the tax-exemption enjoyed by State and municipal securities, as well as certain federal securities, operating in conjunction with the high surtaxes, is the principal cause of the present high interest rates and shortage in many lines of new investment en[illegible]."

"CHICKIE"

The Beautiful, but Bluntly Honest Story of a Boston Girl

By ELENORE MEHERIN

Seething Life of a Lovely Boston Girl of This Strange Today

THE STORY OF "CHICKIE" THUS FAR

Chickie Bryce's first romance ended disastrously. At seventeen she had created the illusion that Arthur Sontag, a school chum, was going to propose to her, but when he announced he was going away she was broken-hearted. Then Chickie's chum, Mary Blake, was married. At eighteen Chickie secured a position in a broker's office and there met Janina, a girl wise in the ways of the world. Jimmie, Mary's brother, declares his love for Chickie, but she puts him off. Chickie meets a number of men and finally goes on a party with Jake Munson and a bunch of his friends, but her father is alarmed over what he terms his girl's waywardness."

They swerved out of Boylston street, west in a side street, and then—into an enchanted garden. They stepped into the glowing heart of color and music.

Chickie held back a sigh of rapture. Her eyes passed with an exquisite thrill from the warm hangings and the lamps to the brilliant room; from this to the careless, brilliant forms swaying in the dance. Life—charming and beautiful, just as she had dreamed.

They waited as the men checked their hats. Besides Janita there was another girl tall, tailor made with a clean, brushed back look. This was Ida Larkin. She wore black spangles, cut severe queenly. On each forefinger she had an immense ring of black onyx.

Janina, too, was in black with a daring orange feather caught in the girdle below the waist. Striking—too brilliant and intelligent—Janina looked tonight. She touched Chickie lightly on the arm — ran her fingers over Chickie's skin.

"Well—glad you're here?"

"Oh, love it."

Afraid to Speak

"Of course. New dress. Look angelic. All dolled even to the shoes. Huh—all alike, aren't we. All slaves when a fellow like Jake snaps his finger."

Chickie's eyes kept up their smile, her lips parted. She was afraid to speak—afraid of the ticking in her throat. Janina laughed—soft, biting. She said, "[illegible] they're worth it."

The men were coming over. Jake was smiling—at her. He towered over the others. Ida Larkin's husband—a slight, very nifty man and the other, a jumpy round little fellow with merry eyes, red face, half bald. They called him "Nicky." Everyone was very affectionate to Nicky. In return he dispensed favors and smiles without discrimination.

Nicky, as it happened, was one of those agreeable, sociable old bachelors who fight shy of marriage all their lives—more persistently than other men—more in resisting capture by one woman they are used, abused, petted and laughed at by all the rest. He went wagging along now at the side of Jake.

Chickie wondered if he was to be her partner. Old fellow of 40. She felt a little twinge of contempt. Then Jake offered his arm. He bent his head, giving a low sound, half laugh, half challenge. "Now for fun and frolic!"

She remembered the song from the "Merry Widow." She had seen the play. This Jake Munson with his magnificent presence, his [illegible] reminded her of the [illegible]

Chickie's pulse beat [illegible] with elation. She [illegible] She walked [illegible] the glittered [illegible] that sparkled. She felt herself [illegible] as though electric shocks were madly and brilliantly darting through her.

"So your name is Chickie?" Munson, holding her chair, gave her a pleased, happy look as though she belonged to him and he wished everyone in the room to know it.

"No. My name's Helen. It's only my father [illegible] like that who call me Chickie."

"Then count me one of the people like that, will you?"

"But they've all known me a long, long time."

"We'll know each other a long time. I promise you—longer than that."

Janina, sitting at Jake's left, leaned forward, pushing a small cup toward him. "Fill it, Jake, but don't mean [illegible] is young [illegible] she'll be [illegible] Remember [illegible] violets every year, Jake."

A Mocking Glance

He gave her a quick, mocking glance, poured [illegible] into her little cup. Then he looked full at Chickie [illegible] his red lips laughing. "[illegible] the one that is blooming tonight."

He took a sip, passed the cup to Chickie. Janina's eyes flashed with tense hard [illegible] She watched and smiled.

Chickie raised [illegible] sweet, velvet taste [illegible] with soft, delightful [illegible] her.

"Now," said Jake [illegible] Chickie [illegible] rhythm [illegible] brightness than [illegible] She was here. She had [illegible] the whole afternoon and the [illegible] not a thing to worry about [illegible] music [illegible] just [illegible] sweet, [illegible]

Jake hummed as he danced. Suddenly he [illegible] looking [illegible] her glowing face. "You were never [illegible] before, Miss Bryce?"

"Who told you so?"

"Yourself. Let's wander away somewhere because I want you to tell me some other things. I want to know why you've kept me waiting nearly a year——"

He saw the quick misgiving in her hesitation, in her short question "Where?"

His laugh rang out. "Oh, so Janina's been telling you I grab girls off the great [illegible] way [illegible] them at the [illegible] Well, there's nothing [illegible] corridor a few [illegible] rooms. Did she give me such a black eye as that?"

"Well—Janina believes all men are devils—so of course you couldn't be an exception. She thinks the only thing for a girl to do is to light a [illegible] quick. Burn men to cinders first! That's her belief."

"Is it yours?"

"No, you see, I've heard as how one man in every ten is an angel and——"

"You're waiting for the tenth! Is it wings you want from life, Miss Bryce?"

"We didn't know Mr. Munson [illegible] [illegible] something [illegible]

HEROINES OF HISTORY

By Mark Sullivan

Catherine of Aragon, the First Consort of Henry VIII.

MANY a romance of today is founded upon the curious ability of a woman to steady the wavering heart of her lord and hold his affection against the distracting influence of the new face.

Oddly enough the plot is by no means modern. Nor was the working out of a first instance of the situation—one which sent the name of a woman down through the years as a paragon of level judgment and keen understanding.

The heroine of this real life story was Catherine of Aragon, who triumphantly possessed the wandering heart of King Henry the Eighth—known to history as the most inveterate of all philanderers—for nearly twenty years.

Eventually she went down to defeat before Anne Boleyn. But few examples of such achievement set forth in present-day fiction depict loyalty so long enduring.

Catherine was the daughter of Ferdinand and Isabella of Spain. At the age of eighteen she was married to Arthur, Prince of Wales, the son of Henry VII of England. He died in 1502. The king, being unwilling to lose her dowry, betrothed her to his son, Henry, who then was but fifteen.

The young man objected with emphasis to being married off thus. But politicians and court figures were too powerful for him and after a three-year engagement he married his brother's widow, first obtaining dispensation from the Pope.

It was by sweetness of manner, good sense and actual superiority of character, according to the story of their marriage, that the queen retained the affection of the fickle monarch. She bore many children, all of whom except Mary, who afterward became queen, died in infancy.

The king's passion for Anne Boleyn led him to the divorce court. There Catherine appeared but once to plead her cause, and Henry took things into his own hands and obtained formal annulment of his marriage in the face of popular opinion.

He made his ill-fated marriage with Anne Boleyn in 1532. Catherine's remaining days were spent in retirement and performance of religious duties. She died in 1563.

MEDBURY SAYS---

By John P. Medbury

A LARGE middle-west dairy says that one million cows guarantee every quart of milk they sell. That's certainly fair enough if you can get the cow's signature.

BUT the average bossy is so busy that she doesn't have time to sign her name on every bottle.

AND unless you were acquainted with the cow personally how could you know that the writing [illegible] a forgery?

THIS is the [illegible] dairy in ex[illegible]ence [illegible] its cattle to [illegible]

SHE may have her suspicions, but she's got to be true to the dairy.

THE butcher shops are full of cows who [illegible]ed too much.

A JERSEY may guarantee her milk, but the chances are if you took it back to her two weeks later she wouldn't be able to identify it.

VERY few dairies ever dilute their milk with water, but it isn't their fault if the hired man leaves the top off of the pail during a rain storm.

A COW may be intelligent, but not when it comes to selling her own products.

IT'S a well-known fact that very few bossies make good salesladies.

ABOUT YOUR BEAUTY

By Maria Jeritza,

THE HAIR AS A FRAME FOR A PRETTY FACE

ARRANGING one's hair becomingly is not always a simple and easy undertaking, as more than one woman with rebellious locks will agree.

Many a woman with lovely hair does it up in such a way that it does not remotely suggest beauty. Of course there are women of surpassing loveliness who can look beautiful even with hair that is pulled straight back in a tight, careless knot. And when the hairpins begin to fall out these women look still lovelier with tresses that suggest what the poet calls "sweet disarrangement."

But the great majority of us must see to it that our hair is arranged becomingly and neatly if we wish to appear at our best or even to produce a pleasant impression.

But if you are one of the many women who are puzzled at times by the problem of a practical, becoming coiffure, you map be glad to know of an easy way of inducing your hair to curl. The method is especially suited to hair that has a slight natural wave, but it can be used in cases even of absolutely straight locks.

You will need to buy from six to a dozen small sidecombs or "water-wave" combs, as they are called. These combs are inexpensive and can be procured at any department store or beauty shop.

Just before you begin your morning or evening toilette brush your hair well and do it up loosely to keep it out of your way. Then immerse your combs in water.

With one of the wet sidecombs draw your hair away from your face and catch a strand of it where you would like to have a wave. Place the second wet comb close to the first and facing it. Continue to place wet combs in your hair in this manner wherever you feel that a wave would look well. When all your combs are placed tie a ribbon or cloth about your head to hold the combs in place and go on with your bath and other toilet preparations. Half an hour later when you take out the combs you will be delighted to see that you have soft lovely waves that soften your face and frame it becomingly.

Some women keep the combs in their hair all night, but ordinarily half an hour is enough, and the wave produced in this way should last a day or two.

Bobbed heads are improved also by this method of water-waving.

So much of a woman's attractiveness depends on the grooming of her hair that it is wise indeed to experiment until you find an easy, practical way to arrange your hair that is undeniably becoming, then gladly devote the few moments daily that are needed to its careful arrangement.

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Will you please settle this [illegible]? A claims when a gentleman [illegible] an elevator in a public building it is not necessary for the gentleman to remove his hat, and B claims the gentleman should remove his hat and keep it off as long as there are ladies in the elevator.

MRS. E. F. R.

IN elevators in hotels and apartment houses it is the rule that gentlemen take off their hats when [illegible] enters. In the elevators of office buildings and stores this is not required, since in these places the elevators are considered as "public" a place as the halls of the building. Usually also the elevators in these buildings are crowded and it is unreasonable that a gentleman should take up more room by his movements in removing his hat. There is usually no place for his hat but on his head. I am constantly impressed by the fact, however, that in the elevators of department stores most gentlemen take off their hats if there is any room at all.

A lady wrote to us the other day about "Listen World," printed every day on the last page. She said that every night her husband read the article aloud to her. Now they sit down and talk things over the way they did before they were married.

Radio American

Men Like "Today" Because

It is the thought of a quick, thinking man who knows the power of rapid words, and believes that men want to get the news and the facts and at the same time some idea of what it's all about. "Today" by A. Brisbane, is on Page 1.

HOW RADIO FAN GETS TIME SIGNALS

These Are Among the Most Important Developments of News Through Air

By THE RADIATOR.

Time signals as sent out through broadcasting stations are sometimes rather puzzling to the average radio fan. Some of them have even complained because these signals are kept up for five minutes.

These signals are among the most important developments of radio, because the high speed of the waves makes for extreme accuracy, no matter where they are heard. Radio waves travel with the speed of light, and they go around the world a little over seven times in one second.

HEARD ALL OVER WORLD.

For ships at sea, it is highly important for navigation that their clocks, or chronometers, as they are called, are set exactly right. If these do not agree the ship may run aground when nearing port. Frequently ships will carry several of these chronometes, all in the same case, so that they may be averaged up and the exact time secured. With the advent of radio it is now possible to check up these delicate clocks by means of the time signals sent out from high-powered stations all over the world.

These signals are not all sent at the same time or on the same wave length, and for this reason it is possible to check up a ship's chronometers while in midocean, by time signals from Paris, Rome, Nauen and Arlington. There are many high-powered stations which do this regularly on a prearranged schedule.

Each of these stations is on a high wave length, far beyond the reach of our broadcast receivers, with the possible exception of the honeycomb coil set, where by plugging in different size coils we are able to increase or decrease the wave length range of the set.

BOSTON PRACTICE.

We hear the time signals on the broadcasting wave lengths because the broadcasting station has a receiving set which is tuned to these high waves. The signal is received in this way, and then picked up by the broadcasting transmitter and sent out on the air again on a lower wave length.

As an example of this, take WJZ. The signals they pick up come from Arlington, Va., just outside of Washington, and are sent out from that station, NAA, on a wave length of 2,500 meters. In the operating room of WJZ this is picked up on their long wave receiver and then sent out through the broadcasting apparatus on the wave length of 455 down where most receiving sets can easily pick it up.

At WNAC, the Shepard Stores station, however, a slightly different procedure is followed. Instead of receiving the signals from NAA, the Western Union wire telegraph signals are used.

It would be possible to put the Western Union ticker in front of the microphone for these signals, but this would give a click instead of the usual wireless "buzz," and would be less easily followed by anyone not an operator.

For this reason a local oscillator, tuned to a frequency of 1,000 cycles a second, is used. This oscillator is modulated or controlled by a relay from the Western Union circuit, with a result that the final signals from WNAC are the familiar radio "buzzes," although they are actually obtained from a telegraph ticker.

RIGHT ON THE DOT.

The signals from NAA start exactly on the dot of 9:55 p. m. and run for five minutes. One beat is skipped at every thirty seconds, or half minute, and a silence of five seconds before each minute. At the end of the last minute the skip is ten seconds instead of the usual five, and then the final dash comes at exactly 10 o'clock. This dash is just the length of three of the ordinary dots.

The identical time signal is also sent out from NAA beginning at 11:55 a. m. and ending exactly at 12:00 o'clock noon.

In the Naval Observatory, where the master clock is kept in a vault which is absolutely impervious to weather changes, an electrical device has been connected to the pendulum of this clock, and every time it swings back and forth closes the contact, causing the signals to be sent out from the station. Once in a great while this electrical device will stick or fail to work, and we have even heard it stop sending altogether, but this seldom happens.

HONGKONG NOW HAS TWO STATIONS

Chinese Have Become Greatly Interested in Radio Broadcasting by Foreigners

The urge to broadcast and listen in has reached Hongkong, China, where a few foreigners interested in radio formed the Hongkong Radio Society, membership in which now numbers over a hundred. Today there are over 500 listeners-in, but it is estimated that this number will be doubled within a year's time.

So far there are only two broadcasting stations in Hongkong, one, a 100-watt American set, operated by the local telephone company which transmits phonograph music for an hour each evening, the other, a ten-watt Canadian made set, is operated by the Radio Communication Co., Ltd.

This company is planning to install a 1-KW set for broadcasting at Kowloon to serve South China with piano and vocal music, news bulletins, weather and shipping reports.

The Chinese love anything mysterious, it is said, and consequently radio telephony has a strong appeal to the natives.

The Listener

Those fond of dance music should have listened in on WCAP last Monday night. All kinds of it was served up by the Army, Navy and Marine Bands, all working in fast succession at the District of Columbia American Legion ball. Most of it was snappy, stuff, too.

Pittsburgh is a fight-mad city every time its local favorite, Harry Greb, is in a bout. Everywhere he fights now, KDKA "follows" him, and broadcasts the bout, blow by blow. They also broadcast local fights on an average of once a week.

KGO, on the Pacific Coast, ought to be listed as a local or at least a semi-local station for Hub fans. The transmitting power of the station is to be raised to 1,000 watts and it ought to be comparatively easy, under good receiving conditions, to bring it in here. I understand they are planning an over-size transmitter, so that even more power may be used for tests.

London has danced to music played by a Pittsburgh band, Kansas has listened to a concert in Paris. There is no reason why the people of the world will not listen to the Presidential inauguration speech in 1925.

Paul Whiteman and his Palais Royal Orchestra are scheduled for some concerts trough WEAF very soon. Don't miss 'em.

Broadcast Calliope

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 20.—When a member of the staff of Station WSB, the Atlanta Journal, found a steam calliope parked on a side street, a relay line was rigged up to the WSB studio and an extemporaneous circus program broadcast. Broadcast listeners from Maine to California reported reception of the unusual concert.

Radio Receiving Conditions Tonight

Radio receiving conditions probably will be good tonight from broadcasting stations in New England, lower Canada and from the West as far as Chicago. They will not be good from points west of Chicago and from the Southwest, because of barometric pressure.

CANARY'S SONG HEARD OVER RADIO

Bird's Shrill Note Mixes in With Concert Music to Mystification of All

During the broadcasting of the regular WJZ Sunday evening concert a shrill musical whistle was suddenly heard which was undoubtedly no part of the music which the orchestra was playing. Every part of the amplifier was examined, tubes were changed, all to no avail, for when the Hotel Commodore Orchestra ended its first number, the whistles continued to go out on the air.

A diligent search of the entire foyer finally disclosed the mysterious broadcaster in the person of a tiny but vociferous canary, who was doing his utmost to burst his throat within a foot of one of the microphones. He had been placed there during the week by the management without notice that he was near the microphone. As he was of the courageous type who always try to sing down any other music in the vicinity, he burst into song upon the opening note of the concert which was being broadcast.

Needless to say he was removed to a more distant location upon his discovery. However, so many letters praising the feathered songster's singing have been received by WJZ since then that he may become a featured artist.

McADOO ASKS PERMIT FOR 500-WATT PLANT

Chicago, Feb. 20.—"This is station WGM broadcasting the latest view on free trade, the Esch-Cummins act, the bonus and world peace; located on the home of William Gibbs McAdoo, in Los Angeles. Please stand by."

Such a message may be heard by listeners-in before long if plans set afoot here by the candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination do not go astray. The Department of Commerce was asked to grant the permit for a 500-watt outfit and Mr. McAdoo said that he would at once construct a plant at his home, to cost about $30,000, and then he would speak at various hours of the day and night.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. F. X. MAHONEY,
Boston Health Commissioner.

Dr. Mahoney.

COUGHING, spitting and sneezing are methods by which the living tuberculosis germs are scattered about by the millions. When sputum is on the sidewalk it is very easily carried into the homes on the the soles of the shoes. Dry sputum drops from handkerchiefs, coat sleeves, lapels pillow cases and sheets.

The hands are frequently soiled with sputum that may be harmful.

Cow's milk occasionally contains bacilli from cows that have the disease. Discharges from tubercular sores may occasionally spread the disease.

Food, and especially that of the infant, is easily contaminated if the mother or cook is careless about the disposal of sputum. It is probable that the majority of cases of tuberculosis are contracted through direct contact with careless consumptives or with articles which they have recently handled.

But some of the infections may be caused by the dried sputum which is often mixed with the dust of a room and may be inhaled through the mouth or nose, by swallowing the dust or by eating food that may be contaminated, and by inoculation into cuts or scratches and through the gums.

An examination not long ago of the street dust in New York by the public health committee of the New York Academy of Medicine and the results announced by Professor Hastings of the Cornell Medical School may be regarded as representing the best thought upon this subject. The conclusions were:

1—Numerous bacteriological examinations made in this city, as well as elsewhere show that street dust contains a variety of living pathogenic organisms such as tubercle bacilli and various types of streptococci which are recognized as causative agents of many respiratory and other diseases.

2—Although there exists only a very few positive instances where the production of disease can be traced to pathogenic bacteria present in dust, yet the fact these organisms are found in appreciable numbers in street dust and are inhaled or ingested establishes a presumption that street dust may at times be a cause of disease.

3—Studies with reference to the incidence of certain respiratory diseases show that persons free from exposure to city dust are less liable to suffer from these diseases than those so exposed.

4—Dust has, for a long time, been universally recognized as an injurious mechanical irritant and as a cause of lowered bodily resistance, and one of the first prerequisites of public health has been the elimination of dust as far as possible.

5—Dry sweeping should entirely be abandoned. An adequate system of street flushing should be introduced in street cleaning procedures of our cities and efforts should be made to apply all available means to make the streets as free from dust as possible.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

You wrote to a subscriber who asked for some information on the care of babies and said you would send them a book entitled "The Baby and You." May I have one sent to me?—MRS. T.

I shall be glad to send you a copy of this booklet. It is very instructive and I know you will profit greatly by it.

What shall I do with a child who has a habit of knocking her head, biting with her teeth and who is very hard to get to sleep? She is two years and nine months old—MRS. S.

The child ought to be examined carefully. It may be feeble-minded, or may have developed a mischievous habit from, which it ought to be broken. The sooner this is attended to the better for the parents and the child.

How long after bathing a child seven months old should it be put outdoors? Should a mother keep the temperature in a room for a baby that age at a certain degree?—MRS. A. C. F.

A booklet will be sent you. The room for baby should be kept at 70 degrees and baby should not be put outdoors or in a cool room for at least one hour after bathing.

Is it dangerous to swallow sputum that one coughs up into the mouth?—L. P. M.

It is often the cause of reinfection, besides helping to continue a curable disease. The constant swallowing of such sputum often gives

Mismated

Editor Boston American:

I'm taking the liberty of writing this article. It has been on my mind for so long I'd like to hear what others have to say.

If a couple are mismated is it right they should live together till "death do us part"? Wrangling year in, year out, they stick together because they believe it is the proper thing to do.

I think if they are not congenial and if there's no harmony between man and wife it is a crime to rear children in such surroundings. It is a bad example for the children. I think it is better to live apart and in peace than to nurse hatred and regret all their lives. For the children's sake let's hear about different opinions.

LOOKING BACK.

Thieves

Editor Boston American:

It is certainly deplorable that travelers, during a long wait at a busy railway station, are so careless as to leave their grip, satchel or suitcase unguarded long enough to run the risk of having it stolen. As a rule, these thieves can make their getaway with absolute impunity. Who is going to stop the crook when he takes possession of your unguarded suitcase and hurries away with it through the crowded depot? He excites no more suspicion than do those who are hurriedly leaving the station with their own handbag or grip.

If it is too near train time to have your suitcase checked, make it a point never to leave it—not even for a minute. Stick to it like a faithful hen sticks to her newly-hatched brood.

EDWIN J. KRANING.

Farmers and Banks

Editor Boston American:

I am glad to see that the President wants to help the wheat farmer. But I am wondering how it will help the farmer by helping the banks. I am one who lost a small fortune in Dakota wheat fields during the war. When the bankers get help they pay the Eastern capitalists from 3 to 4 per cent. and when the farmer wants and has to have some money he has to pay 10 per cent., and maybe a bonus to get it at that. What farmer can afford to pay it?

I made butter when in Dakota. My wife took it to the store and got 12 cents a pound. Before my wife left the store a lady came in and bought the same butter and paid 35 cents a pound for it.

Is it any wonder the farmers are quitting the farms and going into the cities?

THE HELPING HAND

Needs Children's Clothes

Editor Helping Hand:

I am a young woman of twenty-eight years and have five children, three of whom need clothes very badly. My little girl, age eight, needs stockings, size 9, and also school dresses and petticoats. My little boy, age three, needs a pair of shoes, size 7, and stockings and mittens. My youngest one is seventeen months old, and he has no rompers, and he needs little warm shirts and stockings. I expect to be confined the last part of this month, and I have no little shirts or diapers for my little coming one. My husband has been sick with carbuncles and could not work. He has just started to work last week after seven weeks without a cent. I can make over old things, so anything will be very much appreciated.

MRS. R. J. F.

A Generous List

Editor Helping Hand:

Will you let me know of some needy family who can use the things on list? Will send them or they can call at my house.

MRS. A. Y.

Many thanks for your generous list, which was too long to publish. We have sent you the address of G. G., the oldest girl of a large family.

Adds $2 to Fund

Editor Helping Hand:

Enclosed you will find two dollars toward the Helping Hand Fund.

N. B.

Many thanks. As no name or address were enclosed, we are taking this way of letting you know that your gift has been gratefully received.

Family Needs Help

Editor Helping Hand:

My husband has been sick since November and has been to the hospital twice. He just got home last week from an operation and will not be able to work for a month or two. We need clothes very badly, especially underclothes, shoes and stockings. My children's ages are boy sixteen, girl eight and baby four years old. Our son is only making seven dollars a week, and there is no money for clothes. If there is someone who could help us out we will be so thankful.

MRS. F. B. H.

The Real Spirit

Editor Helping Hand:

Please send me the addresses of some needy ones who could use clothing for children aged from six months to eight years, as I have too much to list. Clothing may need mending. I would like to divide with two or three families. I am not on easy street myself, but my children have outgrown these things, and I would like to pass them along.

M. C.

Thank you. Your letter expresses what we like to think of as the real spirit of the Helping Hand—sharing with those less fortunate. You have been sent the addresses of two large families.

Worried Grandma

Editor Helping Hand:

Am writing to see if there is somebody who would help me a little, as I see so much good being done through your wonderful column. My husband died last October and left me without a penny coming in. My daughter lives with me, but she is an invalid, and I take care of her three little children, two girls, aged six and three, and a boy of five. You can see how hard it is for me to dress and clothe them all on ten dollars a week, which she gets. My size is 46 if you could find something for me, but if someone could give me some clothes for these dear little ones, never mind about me.

WORRIED GRANDMA.

Clothes for 2 Girls

Editor Helping Hand:

I have some clothes that would fit an 18 year old girl, and some for a girl of 5 or 6. Will you have some one call for them?

MRS. F. O'N.

Thank you. That particular combination of ages was hard to find near enough to call, but we are sending you the address of M. C. who has a little sister, 6 years old. They will be very glad for what you offer.

New England's WHITE COAL Is Her Greatest Physical Asset. Fifty Per Cent. Is Wasted. A United New England Can Prevent This Waste.

BOSTON AMERICAN
LARGEST EVENING CIRCULATION IN NEW ENGLAND
BOSTON, WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 20, 1924

Next Wednesday—Some Surprising Facts About New England's Fish Industry.

Minute Men of 1924, New England Is Wasting One-Half of Her White Coal

Minute Men of 1924! Halt a moment in the strife and confusion of modern business life.

Forget your cares for a time, and let us take you back to the carefree days of childhood.

The days glorified by Huck Finn and Tom Sawyer; of bare feet, stubbed toes and freckles.

Days when a small boy, a dog and a fishing pole made an ideal combination, and life offered no greater enjoyment than a frolic in the "ol' swimmin' hole."

It is to the swimming hole and the stream of which it was a part that we want to direct your recollection particularly.

Remember how you slipped away for a little fishing on a warm, overcast morning?

You carried a home-made pole, with a bent pin for a hook, and a can of worms dug the day before behind the barn.

You knew where there was a hiding place for trout, and you were resolved to get one well-fed old grandfather who had long eluded you.

Remember how you hit the stream just beyond the end of the pasture, and in a short time were dangling worms in a sheltered pool where succulent trout lurked?

After you had fished out the pool you started downstream, following the bank as it wound through green fields and leafy woods.

You passed a spot where the shelving banks permitted a watering place for horses, and a little farther down was the old swimming hole, hard by a decayed and abandoned mill.

There was joy and romance and contentment in every inch of that little stream as it slipped on its way.

You felt and appreciated it unwittingly, but you did not realize what it meant.

We want you as men to realize what that same stream means as a part of New England's greatest physical asset.

Multiply that ribbon of water by ten thousand.

Add the great volume of the Connecticut, the Penobscot, the Kennebec, the Merrimac and other rivers of New England, and you have a stupendous force.

This great force, once harnessed, will solve in large part the problem of our high cost of living.

It will furnish CHEAP ELECTRICITY to set mills and factories roaring with industry.

It will provide economical power for railroads as well as railways, will put light, heat and power in reach of everyone, and will increase the prosperity and happiness of New England's workers.

Someone has happily described electricity generated from water power as WHITE COAL.

The expression is particularly appropriate for New England.

For our WHITE COAL, properly handled, means a saving of many millions of dollars yearly on our coal bills.

We are throwing away millions of dollars as carelessly as in our boyhood days we emptied a can of bait.

Experts tell us that one-half of the power contained in the streams of New England goes to waste.

That is as much power as mighty Niagara Falls produces.

Think of it!

And dwell for a moment on what Niagara Falls, only partially harnessed, has done.

Within twenty-five years the city of Niagara Falls, N. Y., with one huge power plant, has more than doubled in population.

The river bank for several miles, once waste land, is today dotted with factories of every kind, all using WHITE COAL.

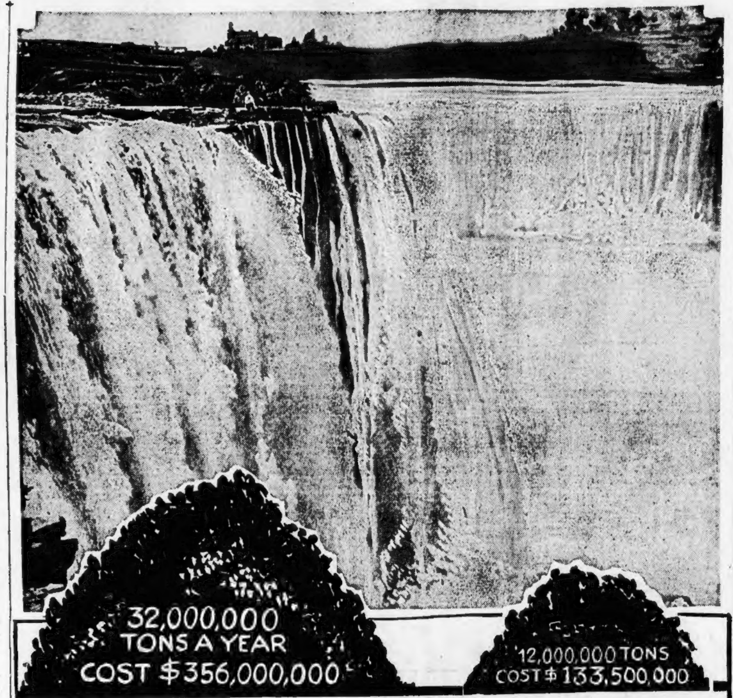
The power generated there runs trolley lines and scores of factories in Niagara, Buffalo and as far away as Syracuse, 160 miles distant.

On the Canadian side are other power plants under control of the government. Power is distributed as far as Windsor, 240 miles away.

AND NEW ENGLAND ANNUALLY WASTES AS MUCH WHITE COAL AS NIAGARA PRODUCES.

What does this waste mean in dollars and cents?

A staggering amount.



Tonnage and Cost of Coal Now Used Yearly By New England

Saving in Tonnage and Cost of Coal if New England Utilizes Its Water Power

New England each year wastes as much power as is produced at Niagara Falls. Study this picture of the Horseshoe Falls. It will impress you with the tremendous possibility of our wasted WHITE COAL. Cheaper living costs, greater efficiency in industry, abolition of the smoke nuisance, better railroad transportation—these are possibilities which lie in the harnessing of our water power. We need a comprehensive plan to include all of our New England States. The Associated Industries has started the movement. Let every person become a Minute Man to help keep it going ahead.

There is government authority for the statement that a thoroughly developed super-power system in the eastern district would mean a saving of 50,000,000 tons of coal every year.

New England makes up six of the eleven States in this district.

The basic saving to New England would be about 12,000,000 tons of coal a year.

New England's annual supply of coal is 20,000,000 tons of bituminous and 12,000,000 tons of anthracite, a total of 32,000,000 tons.

Our coal bill for bituminous at $8.50 per ton amounts to $170,000,000, while our anthracite bill at $15.50 per ton amounts to $186,000,000, making a total of $356,000,000.

The percentage of our coal is five-eighths bituminous and three-eighths anthracite.

It is fair to assume, therefore, that if a better use of WHITE COAL could save New England 12,000,000 tons, there would be 7,500,000 tons of bituminous and 4,500,000 of anthracite.

That would mean a saving at present prices of $63,750,000 on bituminous and $69,750,000 on anthracite, a total of $133,500,000.

That is more than $19 saving each year to each of our 7,000,000 population.

What are the water power possibilities in New England?

In Massachusetts at Lawrence and Lowell there are partial developments on the Merrimac River, at Turners Falls and Holyoke on the Connecticut River, and at the town of Florida on the Deerfield River.

The total is one-fifth of the estimated 500,000-horsepower of the streams in the State.

Think of it, 400,000-horsepower going to waste each year.

This amount could be sold at a minimum figure of $5 per horsepower, or $2,000,000 per year.

It would drive a fleet of battleships around the world.

It would run scores of factories, railways and lighting plants, and could be distributed for hundreds of miles across country.

While 400,000-horsepower are running to waste in Massachusetts, water power development in Rhode Island and Connecticut is worse than at a standstill.

It has never even started. Nobody knows what the waste is there.

Even Vermont, with scattered population and many inaccessible towns, has more WHITE COAL under manufacture than Rhode Island and Connecticut combined.

And Vermont's record is nothing to brag about.

One power company built a plant at Vernon, Vermont, twelve years ago and has recently expanded it from 40,000 to 60,000 horsepower.

The same company is completing a plant at Deerfield to generate 40,000 horsepower.

A total of 100,000 horsepower for an entire State.

New Hampshire's only water power development of consequence is on the Merrimac River at Manchester and Nashua.

And this in a State which has scores of streams.

However, New Hampshire is awake to the need of utilizing her WHITE COAL.

The demand for water power development has resulted in a wide study by the New Hampshire Survey Commission.

Perhaps other New England States will see New Hampshire far in the lead in making WHITE COAL.

The WHITE COAL problem is especially keen in Maine, the great natural water power State of New England.

Her many streams and large lakes offer great possibilities, but to date there has been but a feeble beginning by private interests.

The seriousness of New England's WHITE COAL problem has recently been brought to public attention by the Associated Industries of Massachusetts.

This organization has undertaken the task of securing New England co-operation on a super-power program. Intensive study of WHITE COAL possibilities will be made.

One of the members of that committee is ex-Governor Robert P. Bass of New Hampshire.

In a letter, enlisting as a Minute Man, he points out New England's extravagant waste of WHITE COAL. He writes:

"We should take advantage of the greatest natural resources with which we are endowed. Our water powers should be fully developed and utilized to replace high-priced coal.

"At present, almost one-half of our available water power in New England lies undeveloped. This is clearly AN EXTRAVAGANCE WHICH WE CANNOT AFFORD.

"We should develop an EXTENSIVE SYSTEM of WATER STORAGE to increase the available power at all the plants now in use.

"This is a bit of thrift which we can no longer afford to overlook.

"Then, there is the proposed St. Lawrence waterway, which, if carried out, will not only provide cheaper transportation to our markets in the Middle West, but would generate about 1,500,000 horsepower of hydro-electric energy which, it is said, could be marketed in New England at one cent per kilowatt.

"It has been stated that THE SAVING IN TRANSPORTATION CHARGES ALONE would each year equal the total cost of the development, and that the sale of the electric power at one cent per kilowatt hour would provide a sufficient revenue to pay all the carrying and funding charges of the entire project.

"Finally the present agitation for the creation of a super-power system should enlist the enthusiastic support of all New England.

"An ample supply of cheap electrical power would mean a fuller use of labor-saving machinery in the factory, on the farm, and in the home.

"Before much progress can be made along the lines of electrical development, CERTAIN LEGISLATION IS NEEDED, BOTH BY CONGRESS AND THE STATES.

"This must be planned and drafted in such a way that THE INTEREST OF THE PUBLIC MAY BE PROTECTED and the benefits secured for those who use the power, whether great or small, rather than allow a large share of the profits to be absorbed by promoters and speculators."

The late Charles P. Steinmetz, world famous electrical engineer, warned shortly before his death that the development of water power resources is the problem of first importance in the nation.

He estimated an annual loss as high as two billion dollars to the nation through failure to develop WHITE COAL and urged America not to neglect this resource until a shortage of coal forced the nation to act.

One of the reasons why New England's WHITE COAL is wasted is the failure of the States and private interests to agree on control once a super-power plan is adopted.

The Associated Industries hopes to unify New England sentiment.

And it is along that line that the Minute Men of 1924 can help.

Let the Associated Industries and your legislators know that you want to stop this enormous waste of WHITE COAL.

Tell them your ideas as to how it can be done.

Don't be afraid to speak.

Remember, WHITE COAL means lower living costs for the people and lower production costs for industry.

It means everything to the welfare, prosperity and progress of our community.

And it is merely waiting to work for all of us.
